THE DAILY GAZETTE.

CABLE DISPATCHES were much delayed last night. It was understood the land wires in Ireland were down. Nothing was received from London later than 1:30 yesterday afternoon.

THE ELECTION of Hon. Andrew Stewart to Congress from the XXIst District is not so certain as it appeared from our dispatches of Tuesday night. The vote is close between him and Foster and the majority on either side will be very small. The returns from the XXIVth District indicate that Capt Donley has been re-elected by a small majority. If Mr. Stewart is safe, Pennsylvania has not lost a single Republican representative, but on the contrary has gained an additional member in the XIIth District.

In the XIIIth District, composed of the counties of Bradford, Columbia, Montour, Sullivan and Wyoming, Ulysses Mercur, Rep., has a majority, reported at 150.

We append a list of Congressmen, as far as heard from:

I. S. F. Randall, Dem.
II. J. V. Creeley, Ind. Rep.
III. Leonard Myers, Rep.
IV. Wm. D. Kelley, Rep.

THE ELECTION.

Opinions of the City Press.

[From the Dispatch, Independent.]

THE REFORM MOVEMENT A FRAUD.—We felt no sympathy with the Reform movement, because we had watched it from its inception, knew its originators, could divine their motives, and could, without any failing in charity to them, clearly perceive that they were in no respect creditable. We knew that the grievances which were assumed as the basis for the movement did not exist, and that to assert their existence was to place those who did so in the category of men who can without harshness be described by the euphemism "unveracious." We therefore denounced it as artificial, unreal, and without any hold on the public sympathy. We felt keenly the scandal involved in the whole transaction. It is hardly possible that any one can now be found with a front so brazen as to deny that the whole thing was a pitiful intrigue. We have been at some pains to analyze the character of the movement, and to our perception its inception can be traced to disappointed ambition; its continuance to a stubborn determination to ruin if they could not rule the Republican party of Allegheny county. Most men would rather be called knaves than fools; and we are irresistibly led to assign the leaders of the movement to one or the other of these categories. We have dwelt with some warmth upon the exceedingly creditable record of the Dispatch during the whole period covered by this intrigue.

THE COURSE OF THE "COMMERCIAL."

What can be thought of the course of the Commercial,—a journal which has desired to achieve a character for dainty propriety and very exceptional dignity. Its course has been to the last degree inimical to its own pretensions, injudicious to real reform and opposed to the plainest dictates of journalistic duty. We can easily conceive it as a possibility that a newspaper should sometimes feel obliged to throw itself into a movement under an inspiration of duty without regard to whether success were achieved or not, but, where the merest tyro in politics could see no earthly hope for the election of its ticket, to go on, day after day, in a solemn reiteration of a belief that it would be successful; that its candidates were sure of election, looks, in the retrospect, like a burlesque upon its own followers. It looks very much like a disingenuous play upon the credulity of its poor dupes. Day after day its issues have teemed with confident predictions that Frew would surely be elected; that Negley was utterly out of the field. Has this been the real belief of the editor of that sheet? Has his judgment been of that gullible quality that, looking around him, and seeing on every side signs which, to every one, augured sure defeat, he has yet deliberately made up his mind that success awaited them at the polls? If this is the cast of his judgment, is the Commercial, a paper controlled by him, an organ to be trusted as authority upon any point. Why, at any stage of the movement, it would have required the aid of the twenty million magnifying glass of one of Dickens' characters to enable any man of judgment to see a scintilla of hope for its success. There is another horn of the dilemma, which, it is true, saves the judgment of that sheet, but at a lamentable sacrifice of its honesty. This is accomplished by the hypothesis that, on his part, there was a knowledge of the fact that the failure of the whole ticket was assured; that, in spite of this knowledge, those who control the paper stimulated a hope that they did not feel, with the expectation that, though the election of Frew and his confreres was out of the question, they might possibly make such a diversion as would insure the election of the Democratic ticket.

[From the Morning Post, Democratic.]

The Democracy of Allegheny county have met their accustomed fate. Year after year they march steadily and bravely forward to do their duty, knowing that defeat is certain. The combination of capital, official patronage and influence arrayed against us; the discipline of party and hereditary hatred of Democracy, deprive us of hope. But notwithstanding all adverse circumstances, our party always stands gallantly by its colors.

The result of yesterday's election is in no-wise discreditable to the Democracy. Refusing all combinations or alliances, we went on firmly in the discharge of our duty; and have the satisfaction of having performed it well. The hopes of some of the most sanguine Democrats evidently raised by the apparent dissatisfaction in the ranks of the opposition. The result shows how vain was the promise: how utterly subservient are the masses of the Radical party to acknowledged corruption, imbecility, and total unfitness to manage public affairs has no effect upon men claiming to be honest and independent, writhe under the party lash; and fall in line submissively when the ring-masters crack the whip. The comfort the Democrats may take is, if the Radicals can stand it we can.

Of the open corruption and secret infamy of the past ten days, we may speak hereafter; merely remarking now that the flush of victory can scarcely hide the blush of shame.

[From the Commercial, Guerilla.]

The political campaign which has just closed, has thoroughly revolutionized and renovated the Republican party in Allegheny county. And the Reform movement has done it. No set of leaders for many years to come will venture to depart from the principles laid down in the Reform platform. The Regulars have been able to sustain themselves, after herculean efforts, only by pledging themselves in every form to the reforms laid down in that admirable platform. We feel ourselves abundantly repaid for our labors in this consummation. We have brought the party upon high and safe ground. Although the Reform candidates have failed of an election, the Reform movement has dictated and established the future policy of the party and secured for the people many important reforms, which the rings and cliques have heretofore successfully resisted. In this the Reform movement has won a great victory. It has done a service for which it will receive the hearty thanks of all good men. Political leaders have been taught a lesson which they will long remember. Ours is a victory over which we rejoice as something far more valuable than though we had won a score of offices. Hereafter we can safely count on fit candidates, decency in party leadership, and a vast improvement in the management of public affairs.

[From the Evening Chronicle, Democrat.]

It was pretty well known in Pittsburgh at eleven o'clock yesterday morning what the general result of the election would be. There was not a corner of the city in which the remark was not passed around amongst Republicans that the only way to defeat the Democrats was to concentrate on the regular Republican ticket. An impression had been for some time gaining ground that the Democracy, with great shrewdness, was dashing the two wings of the Republican party to pieces for its own advantage, and that all its excitement on the Reform movement was purely for the purpose of just giving that movement enough strength to nullify every Republican vote. It was a bold and sagacious game, and at one time promised to win. But within a few days of the election large numbers of Republicans who were hesitating made up their minds that if the Reformers could not elect their own ticket it was folly to throw away the whole Republican vote and surrender the field to the astute Democracy. There was a respectable number of voters who voted a mixed ticket. They cast a complimentary vote for several Democrats and do not regret their action. Not being positively identified with any of the parties in the field, they have no right now to indulge any exuberant enthusiasm if their particular preferences had been sustained at the polls. They believed that a first class ticket could have been made representing all parties, but the body of the Republicans, looking at the "situation" as it developed itself about election time, thought it was pretty manifest that the Democracy were aiming after the lion's share of the offices, and sufficiently repudiated the mixed ticket proposition to make it fall to the ground. It will not be to the permanent interest of the so-called Regular Republicans to keep up by taunts the schism, and in a few weeks the little bitterness of the curious campaign will be forgotten. The world still moves and the Republic is safe.

FROM FRANCE.

THE BATTLE AT ORLEANS.

TOURS, October 12.—The Minister of War publishes the following, contained in a telegram from Orleans at a late hour last evening: "The scene of battle to-day was so near this city that balls and shells fell on the outskirts."

The Prussians are near Gallend.

The troops sent from Tours to reinforce the Fifteenth Corps, formed a junction with that body near Antenay.

Severe fighting has been renewed before St. Quentin.

A SUBSTANTIAL FRENCH VICTORY.

TOURS, October 12.—The Ministry have just received the following news of an important French victory. The courier which brought the news was permitted to pass through the Prussian lines.

A battle occurred on Friday, the 7th inst, between Fort Mont Valerien and St. Cloud, on the west side of Paris. The French, under Gen. Ducrot, having made a sortie in force, the Prussians were completely defeated and were forced to retreat to Versailles, entirely surrendering the position they had lately occupied and from which they might have shelled the western part of Paris.

ATROCITIES BY THE PRUSSIANS.

Advices from various parts of France repeat the statements that the Prussians are committing the greatest atrocities upon helpless towns. Where Franc-Tireurs gain advantages, the Prussians have not only seized the authorities of the towns and demanded restitution for captured Prussians upon pain of death of the authorities and burning down of towns, but have also exacted that Franc-Tireurs themselves be delivered up for execution. In view of this frightful state of affairs the Government is reported to have again brought the subject to the attention of the Prussian military authorities, as well as to foreign ambassadors to France.

Gen. De Metterouge has been removed from the command of troops here and Gen. Palandine appointed to succeed him.

GEN. BOURBAKI—NEW FIVE FRANCS.

TOURS, October 12.—The Government is fully satisfied with the faith of Gen. Bourbaki. Five franc pieces, with emblems of the Republic, have just appeared from the mint.

REPORTS OF THE BATTLE AT ORLEANS.

TOURS, October 12.—Messengers who were sent to Orleans yesterday, where a battle was going on, have returned. They make the following report:

The French were in much smaller force than the Prussians and literally crushed by their superior artillery and driven back into the suburbs of the town. Some barricades had been erected there and our forces took advantage of the shelter. The Papal Zouaves and Mobiles behaved most courageously, but the regular troops fled at almost the first fire. None of the regular troops made much resistance. Many threw away their arms in their flight. The Prussians opened fire on the town after the French defeat and owing to the barricades many fires occurred. The railroad depot was destroyed and many other large establishments.

At last accounts the people of Lyons were flying in all directions. Last evening the Prussians had pushed south to Beauzency and Meurg, beyond Orleans, and it is feared the Papal Zouaves will be surrounded and captured. The other French troops in the neighborhood are in good position, and reinforcements were sent to them during the night. It is reported that some heavy guns have also gone forward from Bourges.

The French troops at Beauzency and Meungar are excellent. They are composed chiefly of National Guards and Mobiles, and are determined to resist to the last. In view of the urgency of the case Garibaldi left Tours this morning for the field.

There is a great movement here of Franc-Tireurs. Troops of all kinds are pushing to the front with dispatch.

The Government has repeated its determination to retaliate for all Prussian atrocities. If the municipal authorities of Ablis are executed, an equal number of Prussian prisoners will be shot.

ORLEANS OCCUPIED BY GERMANS—FRENCH FORCES REINFORCED.

TOURS, October 12.—Official reports from Beaugency state the Prussians entered Orleans last night. The French forces are on the left bank of the Loire. They received to-day heavy reinforcements, including ten batteries of field artillery.

No news has been received from Paris to-day. A balloon expedition is preparing here for an attempt to descend into Paris.

Signor Frappoli, Grand Master of Free Masons of Italy, who superintended the organization of Italian volunteers, has arrived.

Minister Gambetta has given orders that complete returns of the armed forces of France be made to his department. He has also sent a number of young, energetic men into the provinces to organize military movements, but with instructions not to meddle with politics.

The Gazette De France and L'Union publish an anti-Republican address from Count De Chambord to the people of France.

The government denies there is any foundation for the report that Count De Palikao has been asked to resume command of the army of Lyons.

FIGHT AT DREUX.

CHATEAU DUN, Oct. 12, via TOURS.—The enemy has been beaten back with loss at Dreux.

A HASTY RETREAT.

MONTBREUIL, Midnight, Oct. 11, via TOURS, Oct. 12.—The enemy's scouts near Mont Didier beat a hasty retreat to-day on the approach of the Franc Tireurs and Mobiles.

COLOSSAL BOMBS.

COLOGNE, October 12.—A writer in the Frankfort Gazette has seen colossal bombs, holding one hundred and forty pounds of powder, going forward to Paris.

FROM LONDON.

BONAPARTES INTRIGUING FOR RESTORATION.

LONDON, October 12.—Prince Napoleon recently arrived in this city and is actually intriguing for the restoration of the Bonapartists. The Emperor himself declines to sanction the schemes of the Prince.

ADVICES FROM PARIS.

To the 6th represent the people steadfast, quiet and orderly, without any anxiety on the question of food. They claim to be fully prepared for any assault.

IMPERIALISTS SHOT.

The intelligence from Paris announcing the shooting of three distinguished imperialists has been confirmed by later advices. The unfortunate men were arrested upon a charge of being at the head of an intrigue proposing the surrender of Paris, and the allegations being conclusively proved against them they were executed by a firing party on the Champs de Mars, in the rear of the military school.

FRENCH VILLAGES BURNED.

Up to to-day twenty French villages have been burnt and one hundred and fifty peasants have been shot for illicit warfare against the Prussian forces. The guerrilla warfare still goes on, however, and the peasants are constantly harrassing the Prussian forces and scouts, and thus precipitating destruction upon themselves and their property.

THE FRENCH FLEET AGAIN THREATENING.

LONDON, October 12.—A French fleet sighted off Heligoland and authorities at Altona and other ports have been warned to remove outer buoys and lights of their harbors to prevent surprise. The United States steamer Plymouth arrived at Kiel, though that port is ostensibly closed by blockade. Other American men-of-war are expected there.

FROM GERMANY.

SIEGE OF THIONVILLE.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—Active siege operations have been commenced by the Prussians at Thionville.

Other Cable Dispatches.

AUSTRIA.

M. THIERS AND FRANCIS JOSEPH—A CATHOLIC DEPUTATION.

VIENNA, October 11.—The Emperor of Austria, Francis Joseph, granted an audience to M. Thiers to-day. His reception was favorable. Thiers also succeeded in obtaining an interview with Counts Andrassy and Potocki, but with no definite results as yet.

A deputation of Catholics favorable to the Pope and the inviolability of the pontifical States, waited on Baron von Beust, the Austrian Premier, to-day. Baron von Beust received them cordially and in reply to their address said that the Government of Austria had made discriminate efforts and representations against the occupation of the Roman States by the Italian troops, and any intervention beyond this would have been unwise and impolitic.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, October 12.—Geo. Otto Treverlin, one of the junior Lords of Admiralty, last evening made a speech to his constituents at Selkirk. He complained of the Duke of Cambridge's army management as slow and insufficient in times so critical.

The Times' financial article to-day refers discouragingly to the Thauntepec Canal route, but approves that of Nicaragua, and thinks in view of the Pacific Railroad and similar great American projects the latter work will be a success.

LONDON, October 12.—Communication with Aden and India, via the Red Sea cables, is again established.

BELGIUM.

A DENIAL—A CATHOLIC PROTEST.

BRUSSELS, October 12.—The report that the Prussian Minister at Brussels has been recalled is untrue.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at Mechlin yesterday, to protest against the deposition of the Pope. The Archbishop of Mechlin presided and among the participants were Archbishops of Buffalo and Calcutta. A protest was unanimously adopted.

ITALY.

FLORENCE, October 12.—Lieutenant General La Marmora entered Rome yesterday and received hearty demonstrations of welcome by the people.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Election of Directors of Western Union Company—Financial Exhibit.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The following Board of Directors for the ensuing year were unanimously elected by the stockholders of the Western Union Telegraph Company to-day: Hugh Allan, of Montreal, Jas. H. Barker, of New York, Roswell S. Burroughs, of Albion, Ezra Cornell, of Ithica, Horace F. Clark, of New York, Emory Cobb, of Kankakee, Ills., Alonzo B. Cornell, of New York, Wm. E. Dodge, of New York, Harrison Durkee, of New York, J. Alden Ellis, of Chicago, Norvin Green, of Louisville, Augustus W. Greenleaf, of New York, Jno. A. Griswold, of Troy, Jas. H. Howe, of Kenosha, Wisconsin, Wilson G. Hunt, of New York, Geo. Jones, of New York, Cambridge Lieinstone, of New York, Edwin D. Morgan, of New York, Wm. Orton, of New York, Edward S. Sanford, of Brooklyn, Augustus Schell, of New York, Hiram Sibley, of Rochester, Solomon G. Simmons, of Kenosha, Wisconsin, Jno. Steward, of New York, Moses Taylor, of New York, Daniel Torrence, of New York, Geo. Walker, of Springfield, Massachusetts, Edward B. Wesley, of New York, Stillman Witt, of Cleveland.

On the 1st of July, 1870, this Company possessed 54,109 miles of poles and 112,191 miles of wire, against 42,099 miles of poles and 104,584 miles of wire at the same time last year, being an increase of 1,910 miles of poles and 7,607 miles of wire. During the past year there has been an increase of 521 offices and 883 sets of telegraphic apparatus. The gross receipts for the year ending July 1, 1869, were $7,316,918 30; ditto, 1870, $7,138,737 96; decrease of $178,180 34, or two and one-third per cent. The gross expenditures for the year ending July 1, 1870, were $4,910,772 42; do. 1869, $4,568,116.85; increase, $342,653.57, or seven and a half per cent. The number of messages transmitted during the year was twenty-two per cent. more than for the preceding year. The net profits for the year ending July 1, 1869, were $2,801,457.48; do. for 1870, $2,227,965.54, being a decrease of $573,491 94, or twenty per cent. From October 1, 1869, when the reduced tariff went into operation, to April 30, 1870, the gross receipts were $233,273 98 less and the expenditures were $186,019 13 more, making a difference in the net earnings of $419 293.11. Thus seventy-four per cent. of decrease in the net earnings for the year occurred in the first seven months after the reduction in tolls. Of this decrease in net earnings, $200,622.55 occurred during the months of January and February alone, being thirty-five per cent. of the decrease for the year. After the reduction of rates, in October of last year, the gross receipts did not come up to those of any corresponding month in the preceding year until May, when they exceeded the same month of the preceding year by $7,755; in July, 1870, the receipts exceeded the same month in 1869 by $3,699 68; in August, 1870, the receipts exceeded the same month of the preceding year by $4,124 38. As the cost of performing an increased amount of traffic increased in a certain proportion with the service, the net earnings did not come up to the amount earned in any corresponding month of the preceding year, until July, when they were in excess of the same month for 1869 by $1,281.42; in August, 1870, the net earnings were $218,614.14, being $14,087.56 better than in 1869. From October 1st, 1869, when the rates were reduced, to March 1st, 1870, five months, the net earnings were $847,879.73. From March 1st, 1870, to August 1st, 1870, five months, the net earnings were $946,863 92, or eleven and six-tenths per cent. If the same rate of increase should continue for the next year, the net earnings would amount to $2,486,409 54, which, added to the amount saved by the abolishment of the National tax, would make the net earnings for the year ending July 1, 1871, $2,686,409.54. We may, however, expect much better results than these. For five months from October 1st to March 1st, is generally better than the five months from March 1st to August 1st. Thus from October 1st, 1868, to March 1st, 1869, the net earnings were $1,207,564.83, and from March 1st, 1869, to August 1st, 1869, $1,032,124.00, showing that the autumn and winter months for 1868 and '69 were $177,440.93 better than the spring and summer months of 1869, while for the present year spring and summer months they are $98,983.92 better than the preceding autumn and winter months. The average rate of tolls upon the entire volume of business done for the year ending July 1st, 1870, was twenty per cent less than for the year ending July 1st, 1869. The average expense of transmission per message for the year ending July 13, 1870, was eleven and two-tenths per cent less than for the year ending July 13th, 1869.

PRISON REFORM.

National Congress at Cincinnati—First Day's Proceedings

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, October 12, 1870.

The National Prison Reform Congress commenced its session to-day at 10 A. M., in Thorn's Hall. A temporary organization was effected by appointing Hon. A. S. Goshorn, President of the Cincinnati Council, as chairman, who welcomed the delegates in a few fitting sentences, to which a reply was made by Mr. Brockway, of Detroit House of Correction.

A permanent organization was accomplished by making Governor Hayes, of Ohio, President, who was conducted to the chair by Governor Baker of Indiana, and Ex-Governor Haines of New Jersey.

The President made a brief address on assuming the chair, in which he spoke in strong terms of the objects of the meeting and the great good that might be expected from its labors.

Dr. Wines, of New York Prison Association, gave extemporaneously a general view of the prisons of the United States. He said that there were forty State prisons, twenty-five houses of correction, and about two thousand county jails in the country, besides a large number of stations or lockups, chiefly in cities and larger towns. There were on an average 15,000 prisoners in the State prisons, 5,000 to 6,000 in the houses of correction, 40,000 to 50,000 in common jails, and perhaps there were as many in lockups. Crime had increased within the last decade, but not disproportionately to the increase of population.

Dr. Pierce, of the New York House of Refuge, read an elaborate and interesting paper on the Reformatories of the United States, in which he traced their history, exhibited their present condition and showed the vast work they were accomplishing for the criminal portion of the rising generation.

A debate ensued, in which the comparative merits of the congregated and family systems of conducting infirmaries was the subject of controversy, which was participated in by C. L. Pierce, Esq., of Massachusetts, and Rev. Marcus Ames, of the Massachusetts Girls' Industrial School, and others.

In the evening two papers were read which had been communicated by foreign gentlemen, the first by F. Bruun, former Chancellor of Denmark, and now Inspector General of Prisons in that country, giving exceedingly interesting accounts of the present state of prison discipline there. Points of great value in the Danish system were developed well worthy of attention in other countries. The second paper was by Sir John Bowring, of England, well known by the positions he has held at home and abroad under the British Government. His essay treated on the proper purpose of prison discipline. The view he took of a prison was that of a moral hospital, in which prisoners were patients. This thought was the key to his theory of prison treatment. He drew a vivid but by no means flattering picture of the unpaid country Justices of England and their dispensation of justice.

A very earnest discussion followed, in which the question was whether the highest pecuniary results in prison management were compatible with the highest moral results. Messrs. Brockway and Pilsbury maintaining the affirmative, and Gov. Baker, Dr. Wines and Dr. Wolff, with other members, participating.

Two papers were read in the evening, one of a highly instructive character, communicated by Hon. J. W. Edmonds, of New York, on the reformatory element of prison discipline, "The ideal of a true prison system for a State." This was a masterly production, to which no analysis that could be given in an ordinary dispatch would do justice.

STATE ELECTIONS.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Fayette County—Congressional.

[Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., October 12.—The Democratic majority in Fayette county will be about seven hundred.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, October 12.—In Ohio the Republicans carried eleven districts, and have elected Perry in the first, Stevenson in the second, Smith in the sixth, Shellabarger in the seventh, Beatty in the eighth, Wilson in the eleventh, Monroe in the fourteenth, Ambler in the seventeenth, Upson in the eighteenth and Garfield in the nineteenth. The Democrats have elected Campbell in the third district, Lamison in the fifth, Van Trump in the twelfth and Morgan in the thirteenth. The Republican Congressional majority in the first district is 2,200 against less than 2,000 last election.

LATER—The returns are meagre, but indicate large Republican gains throughout the State. The Republicans gain one Congressman in the First District and one in the Ninth District. The contest in Schenck's District and in McClurg's District is very close.

In the Second District, there is a slight discrepancy in the Eighteenth Ward, which a recount will only settle. The present figures show Stevenson's majority to be 1,517. The majority of the highest Republican candidate in Hamilton county is about 2,500.

Special dispatches received here from Highland county gives Smith of the Sixth District 100 majority. In Clermont county the Democrats claim 375 while the Republicans concede them 300.

COLUMBUS, October 12.—Fourteen Democratic counties show a Republican gain over last year of 3,796. Fifteen Republican counties show a Republican gain of 331. The total gain in twenty-seven counties is 4,127.

The Republicans gain two Congressmen, Penny and Foster, and probably lose two, Schenck and McClurg.

The official returns of Hamilton county show a majority for Sherwood, Republican Secretary of State, of 2,643; Herzog, Board of Public Works, 2,351; Wilson, Comptroller of Treasury, 2,683. The highest majority on the county ticket, was for Leininger, Recorder, 3,567; the lowest, with the exception of Ampt, 1,887. Ampt, for Prosecuting Attorney, is elected over Champion by 543 majority.

Jones is elected over Kautz by 1,242.

Stevenson's (Rep.) majority in the Second District, 1,468.

The indications are that M'Clurg, Republican, in the Fourth District, is defeated.

The Republicans here have about given up Schenck's election.

TROY, O., Oct. 12.—Miami county, official vote: Sherwood, 5,208; Husly, 2,738; McClung, 3,061; McKinney, 2,874.

GALLIPOLIS, Oct. 12.—Gallia county gives a Republican majority of 850; a Republican gain of 250.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 12.—In fifty-eight counties reported, partially official, the Democrats have a majority on the State ticket of 991. The counties yet to hear from gave the Republican State ticket in 1868, 1,481 majority. Both parties claim the State by a small majority. The Democrats gain one Congressman, probably two. Gen. Mason, Democrat, is elected in the Seventh District by 400 majority. The Fourth District is still doubtful. Wilson, Republican, is probably elected.

The Democrats gain in State Senate in Howard and Carrol counties. The Republicans gain one representative in Laporte county and one in Tippecanoe county.

Gen. Coburn's (Representative for Congress) majority in Marion county is 700, and in the district about 500.

In the Ninth Congressional District Gen. Shanks, Republican, present member, is re-elected.

New York Press Imbroglio—The Special Cable War Dispatches.

NEW YORK, October 12.—The Tribune of to-morrow will contain the following:

THE TRIBUNE AND THE WAR NEWS.

The following document was published in the Journal of Commerce, Sun, Times and World of yesterday:

"Office New York Associated Press, NEW YORK, October 11, 1870.—At a special meeting of the New York Associated Press, held this day, all the members being present, the following preamble and resolution were adopted:

"WHEREAS, False reports have been published by the Tribune, charging upon several members of this Association the theft or improper use in a mutilated form of special dispatches to that paper, it is hereby

"Resolved, That this Association authorizes the contradiction of this report in the papers of the Association. No member of the Association can have an exclusive right to a dispatch of this character, and all who print the whole, or any part, as they choose have an equal right to consider it their own."

"It was ordered by the Association, that the foregoing be signed by the President and Secretary of the New York Associated Press, and transmitted for publication to the members of said Association and to all newspapers receiving dispatches from this organization.

(Signed) DAVID M. STONE, President.
ISAAC W. ENGLAND, Secretary."

The Tribune never having charged any member of the Associated Press with the theft of its special dispatches, it very properly objected to the passage of such a slanderous preamble and resolution. But the beaten members of the Association, probably hoping to do something to counteract the generous and almost universal recognition by the press of the country of the enterprise of the Tribune in securing war news, (columns of such recognitions have been copied by the Tribune,) obtained its passage. The Tribune has paid the following sums to its correspondents and to cable companies for its special news since the commencement of the war: July 28th $3,005.95; August 3d, $2,296.69; August 9th, $2,913.13; August 11th, $3,268.66; August 19th, $3,343.73; August 27th, $2,873.21; August 29th, $9,209.05; Sept. 6th, $2,039.64; Sept. 7th, $2,811.60; Sept. 12th, $7,612.98; Sept. 21, $4,670 58; Sept. 23d, $2,049.86; Sept. 29, $2,783 62; Oct. 4th, $2,774.45; Oct. 5th, $3,736.27. Total $56,089.44.

In addition to these sums the Tribune paid its proportion of the cost of news received through the Associated Press for the seven members in common. The payments were of loans made in gold, but these sums represent the currency cost. The heaviest bill on any one day for cable tolls alone has been 818 pounds 10s gold, or over $4,000 gold. The Herald has used nearly all our special dispatches and has promptly paid its proportion of the cable tolls only. The World has used a few of them, paying promptly its proportion of cable tolls only. The Times has used a few of the dispatches, but has paid nothing, and the Sun has used several, paying for some of them, but refusing to pay for others, one of them being the Gravelotte dispatch which it falsely claimed as belonging to it, on the pretense that it had paid its proportion of its cost. The Herald paid us for its proportion of tolls $15,157 43, currency, and the World and Sun together $5,728 02, making $20,886 05, received from other papers.

The case then stands thus: The Tribune for weeks and even months furnished to its associates and to the press of the country the only special and full news obtained by telegraph concerning the most gigantic civil and military convulsion of modern times. It puts its own special correspondents into the field, selected by itself, sent to the proper points by itself, furnished with civil and military facilities secured for them by itself, paid exclusively by itself, acting solely under its direction, responsible solely to and even known solely by itself. The benefit of news thus obtained, at a cost of $56,089.54, was reaped by the other papers of the Association on their returning to us $20,886.05 of our outlay, and by the press of the entire country outside of New York without any cost to them whatever. In the first instance the whole $56,089.44 was advanced and risked by the Tribune. Now it seems good to our associates in New York to attempt imposing upon the public the claim that they had equal interest, an equal expense in and equal honor for this unprecedented collation and transmission of news with ourselves. We are content to abide the judgment of the country, only expressing the hope that the defaulting members of the Association will pay their past due bills for such dispatches of ours as they have used before they do anything further in the way of resolutions. In the meantime we have our satisfaction in the steady increase in the circulation of the Tribune, and advertising customers find their profit in the increased business secured to them through our new readers.

"IF," says the Pall Mall Gazette, "Russia should crowd us to the wall of Asia, what a pretty pickle England would be in." Of late years the power of Russia has been rapidly increasing, her material resources having been developed as civilization pressed over its borders and the policy of its government became more European than Asiatic. One-seventh of the land of the globe is hers; her population is about 75,000,000 souls, and only her western border has to be defended. The Russian regular army is more than 800,000 men on a war footing; the army of the reserve is 127,925 and of the second reserve 200,000. Besides these are the Cossacks, who, in lieu of taxes to the government, render military service. Russia has improved weapons, 700,000 breech-loading rifles, and abundant artillery. In 1869 its navy consisted of 290 steamers, with 2,205 guns; 29 sailing vessels, with 65 guns: 24 iron-clads with 149 guns; and a force of more than 60,000 sailors. From this it is evident how formidable a foe she would be, and how much she has done since the Crimean war.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY has spoken out nobly in favor of the Republican party. We have not lost a single candidate.

GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE, Commander-in-Chief of the Confederate armies during the rebellion, died at Lexington, Va., Wednesday morning.

EVERY NEWSPAPER in the city appears to be satisfied with the result of Tuesday's election. Inasmuch as we alone stood true to the old party, we of course, are grateful to our contemporaries for their expression of satisfaction over a result we have brought about.

THE INFLUENCE of the Commercial in this county may be measured by the meagre vote polled for the Reform ticket on Tuesday, and it must be remembered that all the other English journals of the city, except our own, helped that sheet in its attempt to break up the Republican party.

MR. JOHN F. DRAVO sent a printed circular through the mails to every one he could reach, begging votes for Walton. In that circular he says, "We also enclose some regular Republican tickets," leaving it to be inferred that the tickets enclosed were truly the regular Republican tickets. Upon scrutinizing them, however, it was found that they were not regular Republican tickets, but bogus ones, Mr. Robb's name being left off and Mr. Walton's substituted. Mr. Dravo may reconcile this with his ideas of right, but we cannot.

A GENTLEMAN who has spent some months in the western counties of this State, and who made up his knowledge of politics from daily reading the Commercial, was utterly astounded, on reaching the city yesterday, to find that the Commercial's ticket had received a vote so paltry. "Why," said he, "I felt sure, from my daily perusal of that sheet, that either it would elect its own ticket or secure the success of the Democrats; and to find that it is backed up only by a couple of thousands of votes renders that sheet so utterly contemptible in my eyes that I can never read it again with any degree of confidence!" This feeling throughout the Eastern counties of this State and adjoining counties of Ohio, is general. The people who read that sheet feel to-day as if they had been invited to witness a grand commotion of the political elements and have been entertained with a tempest in a tea-pot.

JOHN JOURDAN, late Superintendent of Police in the city of New York, died on the 10th instant, at his residence in that city. A fearless, honest and incorruptible man, the Board of Police have but resolved truly when they assert, "the public have sustained a great and irreparable loss." For fifteen years he had performed the duties appertaining to his business, and during the whole time enjoyed the confidence and esteem of the public. He was peculiarly adapted for a detective. His memory was extraordinarily retentive, and he never forgot either a face or a fact. It is generally believed that both body and mind had been so overburdened with cares and anxieties, among which, and the most prominent, was the investigation of the Nathan murder, that they carried him to a premature grave. Mr. Jourdan's reputation was not a local one, and there is not a city in the Union but knew of him, and scarcely any that has not felt the value of his aid.

DURING the late campaign, desirous of saving those who might read the Commercial from being deceived by its game of brag, and misled by its constantly iterated assertion that the contest was between Frew and Hopkins, we asserted that Mr. Frew would not have a majority over either candidate in any district; that there was not an election district in the county in which his vote could not be expressed in two figures, and many in which it could be given with one. The Commercial, on the contrary, bristled daily with bold assertions that Frew could be elected; that Negley was not in the fight; that the contest was between Frew and Hopkins; and that every vote given for Negley was thrown away.

In the light of the election returns, which was right? Which paper deceived the people? The answer is easy. Every one of our statements has been vindicated, and every one of the Commercial's has been falsified. The readers of that sheet must settle it with themselves how they can longer believe a paper that has so persistently attempted to mislead and deceive them.

A PRISONER, of the name of Wilson, confined in the Connecticut State Prison, murdered his keeper. The evidence adduced on his trial satisfies us that if it is true, it is not only not wonderful that this prisoner did murder his keeper, but strange that more murders have not been committed within the walls of that State Prison.

For some offence, we know not what, Wilson was confined for forty-eight hours in utter darkness. To many perhaps this would not seem a severe punishment, and yet observation has long since taught wardens the fact, that it is a punishment so terrible on both mind and body, that it should never be resorted to unless in extreme cases. In the information we glean from the trial we learn that Wilson could not believe that it was only forty-eight hours. He questioned persistently on this point, and was evidently dissatisfied. He no doubt thought it was an age.

But other facts were disclosed that will shock the feelings of every charitable man. Wilson, since his conviction, has been confined in a cell six or eight feet long and about four feet wide. All the furniture in this cage was a sheet-iron bedstead. The floor of the cell is higher than the floor of the hall, so that a bucket can be passed under it and removed without opening the door, there being a hole in the floor of the cell under which the bucket is placed. His isolation was almost complete, as no one ever passed his cell save when the keeper came to feed a prisoner. Two finely grated doors are the openings, and the light is always a dim twilight. Nothing of any kind was given him to read. And the filth and stench was unendurable, so disgusting, it is said, that the prisoner had not eaten a morsel since he entered that cell. To add to all this, Wilson's feet had been amputated, and he could not walk without shoes, and these they took away from him.

This is terrible, particularly as a means of preparation for a man to meet death. What wonder that Wilson declared he would rather be hanged than go back into that cell. Surely there is a good ground for the work of reform in the Connecticut State Prison.

WE give to our readers an extract from the speech of Senator Conkling, of New York, which we think will be a complete and satisfactory reply to the charges made by the Democratic party against the Republican administration. While it may be urged that the increased population of the country since the administration of General Jackson, should have reduced the amount per capita, yet we feel a little reflection will satisfy every thinking mind that such reasoning is not sound. Setting aside the fact that a terrible rebellion has necessarily increased the government expenses, it is also time that these expenses do not decrease in proportion as population increases. But be this as it may the fact still exists that for the year ending June 30, 1870, under the Republican administration of General Grant the expenses of the government are 55 cents less per capita than under the Democratic administration of James Buchanan:

The present administration has reduced the expenses of the Government until they are less, per capita, than they have been since General Jackson's time. For the year ending June 30, 1870, the last fiscal year, the cost of the government was $1 64½ for every person in the nation, and this is less by 13 cents than the average cost for twenty-four years preceding the rebellion. This assertion may surprise you, and so I give you data:

EXPENDITURES PER CAPITA, EXCLUSIVE OF INTEREST AND DEBT, OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Jackson	8 years	$1 16 annually.
Van Buren	4 years	1 78 annually.
Polk	4 years	1 75 annually.
Pierce	4 years	1 96 annually.
Buchanan	4 years	2 19 annually.
	24 years.
Average annual cost during this period for each person		$1 77
Cost under President Grant for each person		1 64½
Difference in favor of Grant		12½
Grant less than Van Buren		14c per capita
Grant less than Polk		11c per capita
Grant less than Pierce		32c per capita
Grant less than Buchanan		55c per capita

THOSE small paragraphs published in the Commercial and Chronicle, (at so much per line?) daily, sandwiched between larger paragraphs and staring you in the eye at every turn of the paper, must be pleasant to some body, now. "Vote for Frew!" (so they read,) "the only way to defeat Hopkins is to vote for Frew!" Some curious man might make a scrap-book of them and append the election returns as a comment. No party ever stood up so nobly against multiplied and determined assaults as the Republican party of Allegheny County in the late campaign. It was assailed by men and papers, pretending to be Republican, with a bitterness and vehemence unparallelled. The flood of defamation and villification burst against it with a force sufficient almost to sweep away the last vestiges of truth, and men stood by appalled at the depravity and depth of baseness which characterized the conduct of those who carried on this war. For a week before the election the county was sown broadcast with deceptive handbills and tickets; smoothbores were plentier than autumn leaves; every man's house was invaded with stickers and bogus tickets of every possible description; the mails and the mail carriers were loaded down with circulars from Tom, Dick and Harry, containing tickets for Walton and appeals to vote for him, and Republican voters were annoyed in every possible way by the efforts of the adversary to seduce them from their allegiance. Yet all in vain. The staunch, sterling Republicans of this good old county stood up like a wall of adamant, and turned back the tide of defamation and abuse. No pressure was sufficient to move them from their firm base. They had a clear, well-defined political faith, and nothing could wean them from it. All honor to them for their firmness, devotion and gallantry! They have earned and well received the gratitude of every true Republican heart in the country, and Allegheny stands to-day, where she has always stood, in the front ranks of Republican counties.

SOUR GRAPES.

The following we take from the Commercial of yesterday. The first Regular (?) is Brigham, the second Thompson and the Third Carnahan. They admit they don't care whether Allegheny County is Republican or Democratic. We know this, gentlemen, but an honest confession is always good for the soul.

A SENSIBLE VIEW.

Conversation Between Three Regular Leaders Last Night.

First Regular.—Well it's been a hard fight, and we may thank our stars that we got off so well.

Second Regular.—Nothing but the negro vote has saved Negley, and he's about the fellow to be saved by them, any way.

Third Regular.—What d'ye think the Commercial will say?

[The subject is discussed at considerable length.]

First Regular.—It is my opinion that the Commercial won't feel bad. It has fully demonstrated its pluck—and let me tell you, gentlemen, such courage is not to be despised. And for courage—why, gentlemen, it's my opinion that the Commercial, so far as it is likely to be affected, cares little what takes place in Pittsburgh, Allegheny county or the State of Pennsylvania. I think it's able to take care of itself, and make itself respected.

[Therefore, no one dissenting the conference broke up.]

NEUTRALITY.

England, not in her endeavor to be entirely neutral, so much as to her real division of sentiment concerning the two great powers now at war, is in a very far from enviable condition. Her domestic relations with Germany, and her intimate military alliance with France, are thorns in her sides. It is said Prussia has become threatening and demands a cessation of all contracts for furnishing arms to France, and cites as a precedent her prohibition against transporting weapons and ammunition across her territory, during the Crimean war.

In the proclamation of General Grant, issued on the 22d of August last, he declared that our citizens had the right and privilege of manufacturing and selling within the United States arms and munitions of war and other articles known as contraband of war.

The effect of this proclamation is plain. A French merchant can, in any port within the jurisdiction of the United States, purchase as many breech-loaders or other arms as he may choose, to be used by the French in the present war. Prussia may do the same. There is no privilege given to either nation in this respect, but both stand on the same footing and the Government strictly maintains neutrality.

In the late proclamation of the President no vessel of war of either belligerent is allowed to leave any of our ports within twenty-four hours after a merchant vessel has sailed. Taking these two proclamations in connection, we might readily be led to the belief that, if such a demand has been made by Prussia of England, it will be followed by a similar request to the United States. And yet, we can hardly believe that any such demand has been made of England. We regard Count Bismarck as a wise and eminent statesman, with too thorough a knowledge of international law, to make any such error. The President of the United States has no such power, as would be necessarily implied by such a demand. The executive must have the consent of Congress before any such prohibition would become legal, and the Queen of England is just as impotent without the acquiescence of Parliament.

We do not believe therefore, that Bismarck has couched his words into the nature of a demand on this particular point, or if he has, it is in connection with some English violation of neutrality law. There is a wide difference between the sale of materials contraband of war within the Union, and furnishing transportation to carry arms to France. Our own experience with England is not of a character to regard her neutrality as ever very strictly enforced, and we have no doubt that when the whole truth comes to light it will be found, that the division of opinion in England with reference to the nations carrying on this war, has led to more than a simple contract—a sale and delivery—within the kingdom.

OHIO OBSTRUCTIONS.

Unless the citizens of our county endorse by positive and energetic action, the representatives of the river men in their protest against the obstruction of the Ohio river at Cincinnati, that protest will be almost useless. It is necessary that a great weight should be brought to bear outside the Convention, against the construction of the bridge proposed. That our readers may more thoroughly understand the nature of this one obstruction to the navigation of the Ohio, we give in brief a description of it.

The main span of the proposed bridge will be 400 feet of clear water way. But the bridge if built, will be so low that in an ordinary good boating stage of the river there will not be more than 20 feet from the surface of the water to the floor. In good seasons therefore no boat could pass through the main span and would be compelled to resort to the draw. The draw is only about one hundred feet, and instead of being over the channel is over two hundred feet from it. It has been clearly proven that coal tows cannot pass through spans of one hundred feet under the very best of circumstances, simply because they are too wide. But even if reduced down to a number of barges, sufficient to pass through a span of one hundred feet, still this bridge has nine or ten piers, whose resistance to the water at even ordinary good boating seasons, would make the spans between them mere sluice ways, that could not but result in destroying immense amounts of freight.

The fact, therefore is, that the bridge as it is being built, is nothing more nor less than a vast obstruction uselessly placed against our river interests, and without one good reason for so doing. Railroad bridges can be built so as not to impede navigation. Even if it should require a greater outlay of capital, it is no reason that the navigation of our rivers should be impeded for the sake of saving a few thousand dollars to any railroad. Our river trade even with all the obstacles that have been placed in front of it has been steadily increasing. It must not be forgotten that a single boat of 1,200 tons will take as much freight as a train of 150 cars, and at a tariff of expense far below that charged on Railroads. We can see no reason whatever, therefore, for our citizens to sit idly by, and look quietly on, at this attempt to deprive our city of its vast outlet for their commercial interests. It is not alone the Miami Railroad bridge, but year by year there seems to have been a continued and persistent effort to take away from the city of Pittsburgh and the counties lying along the Ohio, one of the best avenues of trade ever offered to any people.

We do not stand opposed to railroads or railroad bridges. What we deplore is, that an effort should be made to ruin the trade on the river by building a bridge, unnecessarily low and with a number of spans absolutely useless. We hope that our citizens will take action in the matter as a people. To demand that our rights shall be guarded and respected, and that the vast amounts of capital and material for labor yearly brought to us and used for our benefit, shall not be utterly wasted or turned into another channel.

We have referred to this bridge alone as the obstruction at present demanding our immediate attention. There are others that have wasted immense amounts of property and will continue to do so just so long as they are permitted to exist. Of these we will speak hereafter, but for the present we urge unity of effort with the river men in preventing this new and most dangerous obstacle to a free avenue on the Ohio for our trade.

CONGRATULATIONS.

EDITORS GAZETTE: It is a long time since I first made the GAZETTE my political guide. It has never failed me. It has always come out right side up. I feel prouder of it to-day than I ever did before. It has fought a mighty battle and achieved a glorious victory. I confess that at one time my faith was weak. The Commercial said "the people are all with us." The hired stumpers of the disorganizers re-echoed the empty boast, "the people are with us," and I think one of them said by way of emphasis, "and the rest of mankind." But although weak my faith did not leave me. I knew the GAZETTE never asserted anything unqualifiedly without knowing it to be true. I knew that the editors and proprietors mingled freely with the original call signers and learned their views. The "OLDEST" the SAFEST, and the BEST knew whereof it affirmed. The Commercial, on the other hand, told knowingly the most outrageous falsehoods. In proof, look at the vote in the "editors" ward, and also in the ward of his candidate for Congress, did he or did he not know the state of things in these wards? Evidently the Commercial tried to deceive the people and told what it knew to be untrue. Gentlemen, you have my thanks and the thanks of thousands for your noble efforts to save the Republican party. Accept my congratulations. A CITIZEN.

MESSRS. EDITORS GAZETTE: The campaign through which we have passed has demonstrated which is the most reliable newspaper in Pittsburgh. For a long time I relied on the statements of the "better" organ. I am glad I took warning in time. Had it not been for the GAZETTE I would have been among the defeated disorganizers to-day. I voted the entire regular ticket, and hope that will be a sufficient atonement for my sins of thought, word and deed at the commencement of the campaign. A thousand thanks to the noble GAZETTE.

EIGHTEENTH WARD.

EDITORS GAZETTE: Let by-gones be by-gones. But the Republican party of Allegheny county, the State or Pennsylvania and the country, owe an immense debt of gratitude to the Pittsburgh Daily GAZETTE. Had it not been for the GAZETTE'S faithful and untiring labors we would not have had a Republican party in Allegheny county to-day. I hope Republicans will not forget the paper that stood by them when many were distrustful. Three cheers for the GAZETTE, the only true Reform paper of Pittsburgh.

J. F.

DEAR OLD GAZETTE: You have been denounced as a "silly, doting old fool." Permit me to congratulate you on your [illegible]. Although venerable for your years "your eye is not dimmed, nor your natural force abated." You have [illegible] good old party. "More strength to your [illegible]." OLD SUBSCRIBER.

UPPER ST. CLAIR.

MESSRS. EDITORS: What better proof do the people of Allegheny county want of the infamous workings of the bogus Reform party than the fact of them publishing in their guerilla sheet, the Commercial, the following gentlemen as their Vigilance Committee: Samuel Morton, David Baines, Chris Graff, Jno. D. Saulters, Jno. Fife, M. D., Wm. Lesnett, Gregg Algeo, Jno. Connor, Jno. Trimble, Wm. Orr, Wm. Morrow. Every one of these men repudiate the Reform movement, and the best proof that is wanted of the farce is that not a Frew vote was cast in this township. We don't read the Commercial out here. Give us the old reliable GAZETTE, all the time. J. G.

ADDRESS.

To the Republicans of Allegheny County:

FELLOW CITIZENS: We congratulate you upon the victory you have just achieved. With division and distraction upon every hand, you have come up nobly to the maintenance of your principles and won success when, to all human judgment, it was not merely difficult but nigh impossible. Your organization has been assailed with a bitterness before unheard of. Your candidates traduced and vilified without stint, and every effort made to win you from the support of your party and its nominees; but you have manfully withstood all the assaults made upon you, have maintained the integrity of your organization, and vindicated the character of your candidates, by giving an old-fashioned majority for your whole ticket—a majority as great as when, in ordinary contests, the party was united and harmonious.

In carrying on the campaign thus gloriously ended, we were careful to keep before the people the platform adopted by the Conventions held on the 30th of August last, and to impress on the public mind that the Reforms contemplated by that platform can be effectually carried out only by the Republican party. You have, by your triumphant election of the Republican ticket, endorsed that platform thoroughly, and the future, we have no doubt, will demonstrate that the party is a party of deeds as well as words.

In the name of the great Republican party we thank you, individually, for the manner in which each of you has rallied, in the hour of need, to the support of the right; and our thanks are specially due to the many gentlemen who were chosen to act as Vigilance Committees in the several election districts of the county, and who have, by their unntiring and persevering efforts, contributed so much to bring about the inspiriting result. To their energy and devoted labors, to the persuasive eloquence of the gentlemen who gave their services as public speakers, to the colored men who gave their first vote, in the contest for the protection of their rights, and to the spirit of devotion to Republican principles which so generally prevailed throughout our ranks, we owe the grand success that has been accomplished and to each and all we tender our hearty thanks and congratulations.

On behalf of the Republican Co. Com.

JOSEPH DILWORTH, Chairman.

H. M. LONG, B. C. CHRISTY, } Secretaries.

M. FAVRE.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The St. Petersburg Journal says: "Germany has indeed heard M. Favre protest against a war which the entire French nation hailed with enthusiasm. It is not easy to understand how right and justice can be on the side of France to-day, when M. Favre, in the month of July, maintained the contrary."

Without stopping to discuss the pretended enthusiasm, now so fully contradicted by the Republican Government, through their investigations of the letters of the French Prefects, permit me, Messrs. Editors, to point out the absurdity of that attack against the illustrious French Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Favre, like the other republican members of the legislative body, voted against the war, because they did not see any possible reason for it; because they did not want any military glory, because they thought, war is the last vestige of barbarian ages, desirable only for princes who do not care for either the lives or the welfare of their subjects. Does it follow from this that France must submit to the insolent demands of her enemy? Can she deliver in the hands of a hated foe, populations that have been faithful to her? Are men to be tranmitted like cattle against their will, without their assent? When robbers attack you unprepared, you may perhaps give up your money, but you will defend your children to the last.

Mr. Favre was consistent with himself when he went to the camp of the Prussian Despot to inquire about the condition of peace. Ready to sacrifice the wealth of France, he could not sacrifice her honor! What man, what American, would have done otherwise? Dishonesty can set forth such arguments; logic destroys them.

A FRENCH REPUBLICAN.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I should like to know where "she," the old GAZETTE, scared up so many young ones on Tuesday last. I haven't heard of a coal boat rise lately. Will you inform a subscriber if the Ohio river will continue to flow its natural course? Or will the lately elected Representatives to Harrisburg have an act passed turning its course up Saw Mill Run? A RIVER MAN.

Horrible Execution in Virginia.

Four colored men were hung last Friday, at Isle of Wight Court House, in Virginia, for the murder of Joshua Gray. Their names were Peter Newby, Jacob Wallace, Moses Newby and Henry Costen. Wallace was nineteen and Peter Newby thirty-eight years of age. From the reports of the execution in the Virginia papers it appears to have been one of the most horrible on record, surpassing in sickening ghastliness the execution of the four men at Princess Anne. The following is the conclusion of the Richmond Whig's report of the Butchery!

The executioner, at the close of their remarks, placed black caps over their heads and adjusted the ropes, when they broke out into the wildest supplication, praying Heaven for mercy. The two auxilliary props were removed at one o'clock, immediately after which the main prop was knocked from beneath the drop, when, with a terrible crash, that sent a shudder through the crowd, two of the criminals were precipitated to the earth by the breaking of the ropes. The middle men, however, remained suspended in the air, but the excitement was intensified by the breaking of two of the strands of the rope around the neck of Moses Newby. Here the crowd without rushed for the door of the jail yard with a yell, but were forced back and prevented from entering by the coolness and nerve of the sheriff's guard. The middle criminals, though dangling in the air, had only fallen three feet, and the neck of neither was broken. The discovery of this fact created the wildest confusion and the most intense excitement among those within the yard, and the prayers of the poor wretches who had gained a temporary respite by the breaking of the ropes, mingled with the oaths and imprecations if the excited mob.

The bodies of Moses Newby and Costen were left hanging seventeen minutes, and all this time the other two men were left standing beneath the scaffold witnessing the terrible torture through which they were soon to pass. Life being declared extinct, at the expiration of the period named, the executioner walked on the platform and severed each of the ropes to which the bodies of the two men were attached, precipitating them in rapid succession at the feet of the other two trembling wretches. The hangman then jumped on the ground, and seizing the ropes still on their necks, dragged them to their coffins and placed them therein. He was a volunteer hangman, and no one approved of his conduct.

The drop was hastily put in position, and the remaining two trembling criminals, more dead than alive, led upon the scaffold and placed in the identical position of those executed before them. At half past one the drop again fell, and the bodies struggled fearfully for eight minutes, when, life being declared extinct, the hangman repeated the conduct mentioned in the case of the first two who were executed. The whole affair was a scene of horror without precedent in the executions in the Commonwealth, and never will be forgotten by any one who witnessed it.

THE building operations in Chicago, including new business structures, residences, etc., during the year 1870, foot up, 116 marble edifices, costing $4,097,500; 196 of brick, costing $2,980,175; 155 frame, costing not less than $5,000 each, $782,000. Grand total of buildings costing not less than $5,000 each, 467; costing in the aggregate, $7,760,575. This does not include small houses erected during the year, costing less than $5,000 each. Of these there are not less than 1,000 averaging $1,000 each, making at least $1,000,000 in all, and swelling the grand total of the cost of building improvements in Chicago during the present year to nearly $9,000,000.

Laws of Business.

BY THEOPHILUS PARSONS, LL. D. Pp. 707. National Publishing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, 1870.

The design and general character of this book may be learned from the following description of it, which we quote from one of the ablest jurists of the country, Judge R. R. Heath, LL. D.

"The writer well recollects many years ago Sir Edward Sugden, then in the zenith of his power as a lawyer, in one of the English law journals wrote a series of Letters to a Man of Property. These letters were written in an attractive and popular style, and seemed to have been at the suggestion of some gentleman who had complained to Sir Edward that he—the gentleman—had frequent occasions for legal advice when immediate action was necessary, and when he could have no access to a lawyer, and was compelled to act on his own responsibility. There was a series of these letters, embracing such legal subjects as would be of greatest interest and use to a country gentleman remote from town, and who had often to act, for want of advice, on his own judgment. Many numbers were written and the journal in which they were published was much sought for both in England and this country. So popular were these letters, and so well did they cover the ground, that they were subsequently collected and published in a book of the size of one of the volumes of a popular novel. The book met with a wide circulation, and after Sir Edward became Lord Saint Leonard, it was rewritten, and a new edition given to the public, called, I think, Lord Saint Leonard's Laws of Property, which was still more popular with the legal profession and business men. This work is probably out of print as the writer has not seen a copy for many years.

"The work named at the head of this article was evidently—intentionally or otherwise—modeled after this original, and is, for reasons hereafter given, a great improvement on Lord St. Leonard's book. Who Mr. Parsons is, is known to every lawyer. He is the learned author of many law books that have become classics in the profession; and, if the writer be not mistaken, was a long time on the bench as Chief Justice of his native State, which position he resigned to accept the Professorship of law in Harvard University, which place he now fills. In every position in which he acted he has distinguished himself, whether as a lawyer, judge or lecturer. His mind is accurate, and his memory retentive, so much so that Mr. Justice Parker once said of him, on the bench, when his name was mentioned, that when Parsons once read a case he remembered everything in it save its name.

From such a man the lawyer would hardly expect a bad book, and this book is eminently a good one; and is, as stated, an improvement on Lord St. Leonard's. First, for the reason that while Lord St. Leonard's book was a small one, this is a large one, of some seven hundred pages—treats of far more subjects, and from its greater size is enabled to go, and does go, much more into detail on the subjects treated of.

Some idea may be formed of the comprehensiveness of the book, when it is known that it is written in forty chapters and embraces nearly as many legal subjects, as follows:

"Commercial Law in General; on Infants or Minors; Married Women and their Rights; Sales; Guarantee; Payment; Notes and Bills of Exchange; Agency; Partnership; Arbitration; Carriage of Goods and Passengers by Railroads and other Carriers; Patents; Copyrights; Statute of Limitations; Interest and Usury; Bankruptcy; Shipping; Marine, Fire and Life Insurance; Deeds of Land; Mortgages of Land; Mortgages of Personal Property; Leases; Liens; Liens of Mechanics and Material Men; Pensions for Soldiers and Sailors; the Recovery of Debts; Wills; Executors and Administrators: Guardians; the Stamp Act; and other topics—all of them fully and ably discussed in separate and distinct chapters, and the different subjects are exceedingly well treated and are nearly or quite exhausted in the author's usual lucid style. A second improvement on Lord Saint Leonard's book is that his book had no forms, while this work has more than two hundred of the very best character. Indeed, a lawyer can hardly look for a form that cannot be found in this book; and renders the work a necessity, or almost a necessity, for the younger members of the bar. These forms are mainly, if not entirely, such as have stood the test of judicial criticism; have been approved, and are therefore to be trusted. The author well says: 'He must be a bold lawyer who would undertake to prefer forms of his own make to those which the courts and common usage have sanctioned.' A critical examination of these forms satisfies the writer that they are the best collection that he has ever seen. While the book as an entire is well worthy the attention of all lawyers and business men, young and old, to the young it will be a guide, to the older a refresher of his learning. It will be found, in the general, a safe guide to the man of business when so situated, as he often is, that he cannot take legal advice. It is generally, if not universally, accurate, and the writer commends it as such to the bar and to business men. To business men especially."

Singular Pompeian Statues.

During the eruptions of Vesuvius, which destroyed the ancient city of Pompeii, those who delayed too long in making their escape fell victims, for the most part, to the pernicious effect of sulphuric and carbonic acid gasses, and were rapidly covered by the shower of fine dust following the eruption, which gradually hardened, formed perfect moulds of the unhappy beings who so miserably perished, from which admirable casts are taken, showing, their forms, features, expressions and attitude, when overtaken by death. At the beginning of the excavations little attention was paid to the natural molds, only a few having been partially cast and preserved, the most remarkable of which were those of a husband, wife and child; the husband, and at the moment of death pressing tightly to his breast nineteen pieces of gold and ninety-one pieces of silver, which were found fixed to his ribs: the wife had let fall a coarse linen cover in which were found fourteen bracelets, gold rings, ear-rings, and jewels of less importance. It was only, however, in 1863, that M. Fiorelli had the happy idea of filling those natural molds with a peculiar solution of plaster, by which process the victims are reproduced in their integrity.

The first group reproduced was composed of a man, a woman and two young girls, who had remained within doors until too late; when they attempted to escape by the window or terrace, they were suddenly asphyxiated and covered by the dust, which faithfully preserved the contour of their forms. In 1868, a body thus produced was that of a man who had fallen face downward, whose despair and suffering, his clenched teeth and clenched hands eloquently expressing the agony he had endured. Next in interest is the form of a woman who had fallen on her back, whose right hand leans upon the earth, the left raised, as if trying to ward off danger. To aid her flight, she had raised her vestments. Her form is tall and elegant, her admirably arched foot, encased in strong sandals, being a favorite subject of study to artists. On one of her fingers is a silver mirror and an amber statue representing Cupid. Her hair in the front forms three rows of ringlets, and falls plaited over her back in the manner of the Voltaire perruques.

A remarkable group of three persons has been admirably cast, which is in the highest degree interesting.

A man of high stature and powerfully built, with strong marked features, prominent cheek bones, heavy beard and mustache, is the principal figure; he held in his hands the ear-rings of the two young girls who followed him, and the key to his house, and looks the beau ideal of an old Roman legionary. Over his head he had thrown the corner of his mantel for protection against the noxious gasses or the falling dust and cinders, the expression on his face and that of his daughters being suggestive of suffocation. There is something touching in the spectacle of the two sisters who followed their father, in the precise attitude as they fell supporting each other breathing the same poison, and dying entwined in each other's arms. Both of the figures are of beautiful forms and proportions.—Appleton's Journal.

Shakespeare's Skull.

A writer in the Press discusses at considerable length a photograph which he has heard of purporting to represent the skull of Shakespeare. He is under the impression that somebody has dug up the skull and made photographs from it. This is a mistake. It is a fact, however, that a plaster-mask of Shakespeare, taken apparently from his face immediately after death, was discovered some years ago in the collection of an ancient German family near Dusseldorf. It has for a few years past been in the possession of Professor Owen, of London, who has kept it in a glass case in the British Museum. Many photographs have been taken from it, and it is probable that it is some rumor about these which has excited the interest of the writer in the Press.

There are many reasons for believing that this mask represents the genuine appearance of Shakespeare, and it certainly gives a very different idea of the man from any portrait previously known. The photographs are many in number, and depict the mask from almost every possible point of view, and in every possible aspect. The head, as they exhibit it, was one of the grandest and most massive, and the countenance the most beautiful, intellectual and noble ever beheld. Mr. William Page, the celebrated artist of this city, has for some months been engaged in modeling the head of Shakespeare after these photographs. Although when we last saw it the work was in a very unfinished state, it was exceedingly impressive.—N. Y. Sun.

ST. LOUIS MAGNETIC SPRING WATER.

Ten cases just received at JAMES E. BURNS & CO'S DRUG STORE, corner of Penn and Sixth (old St. Clair) streets.

St. Louis Magnetic Spring, discovered 1869. St. Louis, Gratiot county, Michigan.

This most wonderful Spring is attracting from its Novelty and peculiarities the attention of the world. During the summer of 1869 while the Company were boring for salt, a vein of water was struck flowing with such force as to throw the stream several feet above the surface. It was found to carry a powerful current of Electricity or Magnetism, which marks it as one of the most wonderful of Nature's Curiosities. The Water has been proved to possess most remarkable curative properties, being particularly effective in cases of Rheumatism, Paralysis, Gravel, Kidney Complaints, Dyspepsia, and all Nervous Diseases.

SYSTEMS RUN DOWN.

Persons often allow their systems to "run down," or rather run them down by over-work, accompanied by a neglect of the proper means of invigoration. The result is what is called "GENERAL DEBILITY;" in other words, a failure and partial collapse of the physical forces, accompanied, usually by great depression of spirits.

The best remedy in such cases is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Whether the state of exhaustion has been brought on by excessive physical labor, dissipation, anxiety of mind, exposure, or any other cause, the remedial effect of this great stomachic will be found equally prompt and certain. As a restorative, after severe sickness has prostrated the bodily and mental energies, it is pronounced, by competent medical authority, "THE BEST TONIC IN USE." If men were not foolishly careless about their health, and over confident in themselves, they would always, when engaged in any work that required great exertion use corresponding means of sustaining their strength. For this purpose Hostetter's Bitters are invaluable. All toilers should use them as an invigorant.

For those constantly employed in in-door occupations, especially in crowded workshops, they may be reckoned as the very best safeguard of health. When there is a predisposition to constipation, or a tendency to biliousness, they may be truly said to be a specific for which there is no substitute.

GRATES! GRATES! GRATES!
Keep Your Houses Clean, AND SAVE FUEL, BY USING THE Wellman Patent Reflector Grate. WHICH STANDS WITHOUT A RIVAL.
We claim for it the following advantages over any other in use:
1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity.
2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—very little soot or ashes escaping into the room—which in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.
3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.
4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.
5th. It is highly ornamental.
6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.
7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

The banks and discount houses were more liberal to-day in loans, and the market is evidently easier. The disposition to accept first class paper at 9@10 per cent. and occasionally at a fraction below these figures, is more apparent. There is no longer any fear of "statement day," and the National banks will, for a brief time at least, absorb much good paper that was rapidly passing into the hands of private lenders.

The demand for our home stocks continues light and we make no change in previous quotations.

Private advices from New York report growing confidence in the stock market, and a largely increased volume of business.

Gold has been steady throughout the day at 113¼@113⅜.

There is no decided change in the Government bond market. Prices yielded a little this morning, but afternoon quotations show a steady market, though the dealings are not large.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 12, 1870.

Wall street was slightly disturbed by a piece of gossip which, if true, must exercise some influence on values. The story runs that a prominent Broad street bear on stocks and a German banking firm are to make an important demonstration in the Gold Room to-morrow in the shape of a lock up of cash gold. It is stated the Broad street bear is short of $6,000,000 gold, which he borrowed on time to make deliveries, but that he has bought back $3,000,000 of his short gold, which he is sending from day to day. The German banking firm is reported long of gold. The object of the Broad street bear is supposed to be to get up the price for the purpose of selling more as well as to adversely affect the bull speculation on the Stock Exchange by increased activity in money. The object of the German firm is to unload their long gold. It is stated Canada parties hold of the great bulk of the floating gold, and have refused to enter the scheme, but they will probably accept higher rates for the use of gold in the loan market. Gold now held by New York city banks is $12,000,000 against [illegible] last year. These figures show how easy a squeeze in the last gold could be made by a few individuals. Money market more active and the demand extended to later than usual. Rates on call 6@7 among the stock brokers, while the leading government dealers had money left with them at 5. PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, October 12, 1870.

There is no improvement to note in the general tone of the oil trade; the market continues exceedingly quiet and weak, and while there is no material change in prices, the tendency is downward. The unusually heavy production is not without its effect, particularly at this time, when it is usually least expected, together with the fact that the season is rapidly drawing to a close, and operators generally are becoming a little bearish, and as a consequence, there are but few buyers for long lines at present quotations. This feeling has been developing itself for some time past, early deliveries holding up considerably above the late months; to-day both crude and refined are worth considerably more for October than November, and November is worth more than December. The inference from this is that operators are expecting oil to be lower toward the close of the year than it is now, and in view of the above facts noted it looks now as if these expectations would almost certainly be realized.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, October 12, 1870.

Business generally was very quiet to-day but now that the election is over, and the excitement in regard to politics is rapidly subsiding, we may reasonably expect an early improvement in trade, and it is earnestly hoped that these expectations will be fully realized. It is true, business is fair for the season, it has been a great deal worse, and it might be considerably better the grain trade is reported unsatisfactory by dealers, which is owing mainly to the fact that there is no outlet, no demand for shipment east, and the demand is entirely local, and this being the case, the competition for local trade is so strong, that there is little or no margin, and, as is well known, this is a very important matter. This accounts for the dullness as there is no inducement to stimulate operators to make business, as they can see no promise of any return. The grocery trade is fair; country orders continue to come in pretty freely, and while the market is reported steady there is no change to make in quotations. It is worthy of notice that the receipts of apples have been unusually large this season, and never before, perhaps, was the market so completely glutted as at present. Butter, eggs and all kinds of country produce, of good quality and in good condition, is selling on arrival at quotations.

APPLES—The supply is unprecedentedly large and the market dull though prices are unchanged, at $2@3 per bbl. for fair to choice, the bulk of the sales at $2.25@2.50.

BEESWAX—Sales at 36 to 38 cents.

BUTTER—Prime to choice roll butter is in steady demand, and is selling readily at 30@32. There is very little inquiry for common or medium, which is owing to the fact that lard is generally preferred for cooking purposes, besides being much cheaper.

BEANS—Sales of prime small white (new crop) at $2 per bush.

BROOM CORN—Is dull but unchanged; small sales at 6@7 cts.

COAL—Sales of Anthracite at $9@9½ per ton by the car load, delivered.

CRANBERRIES—Are being sold all the way from $12@16, per bbl, according to quality and condition.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands in new barrels unchanged, at 22½@23; straw color, about a cent less.

CHESTNUTS—Receipts as yet very meagre; quoted at $8 per bushel.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at $2@2¼, and Calcined Plaster at $4¼ per bbl.

CORNMEAL—Is being sold in small lots, from store, at 95@$1 per bushel.

CIDER—Sales at $6@8 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Quiet; small sales new crop peaches (halves) at 9½@10.

EGGS—Quiet and unchanged—receipts not large, but the supply seems to be fully up to the demand.

FLOUR—The market continues quiet and changed—the demand is light and entirely local. We continue to quote western flours at $6@6½ for fair to good, and $6¾ for choice. Rye flour $5½ and dull.

GRAIN—There is no new characteristics in the grain markets, nothing at least deserving of special notice. Wheat is still quoted at $1.15@1.20 for red, and $1.30@1.35 for white; receipts rather light, and the mills are taking all that offers at quotations. Oats are remarkably steady—there has not been a change of a cent per bushel either way for a month or more; we continue to quote at 43@45, buying, and 47@48, selling. Corn is dull, though nominally unchanged; 80@82. Sale 5 cars new crop, to arrive, at 60—sold to the trade. Rye is dull and in the absence of sales may be quoted at 80@82 in first, and 85 in second hands. Barley is dull and irregular; sale 2 cars fair spring to arrive, at $1, and 2 cars prime do at $1.05. Strictly prime spring may be quoted at $1.08@1.10, and prime fall at $1.14@1.15.

GROCERIES—The grocery market is steady with a fair volume of business in the aggregate, though there is no quotable change in prices. Sugars are reported firm, particularly in the east, though there is, as yet, no advance in this market; we continue to quote crushed, at 14¼; A coffee, at 13¾; B, 13¼; Extra C, 13¼. Syrups more active, and choice brands quoted steady at 85@90. New Orleans Molasses scarce and steady at 85@90. Coffee is quoted at 20@22½, for fair to choice Rio.

We continue to quote shoulders at 14½@14¾; ribbed sides 17½; clear do 18½; breakfast bacon 20; sugar cured hams 24½. Lard 16½ in tcs. and 17½@18 in kegs and half bbls. Mess Pork $27@27½.

POULTRY—Sales of spring chickens, by the coop, at 50@60 per pair.

SAPOLIO—Sales Enoch Morgan's Sons—six dozen case at $4.50.

SALT—Is quoted at $1.60@1.65 by the car load, with the usual advance for small lots in store.

SEEDS—Timothy seed is dull and may be fairly quoted at $4.75@5. Nothing doing in clover seed. Flaxseed would bring $2.15—none offering.

RIVER NEWS.

The river is about stationary at this point with 28 inches in the channel last evening. Weather clear and cooler, and the indications are not favorable for water.

The Trader is the only arrival we have to report.

It was currently reported yesterday that Capt. Joseph Walton will not go to Harrisburg this winter, but will remain at home and attend to his coal business. Also, that Capt. Geo. Neeld intends to stick to the insurance business. Both of these gentlemen did contemplate, temporarily, to change their quarters, but upon more deliberate consideration have determined to adhere to their old vocations. They may possibly make a short voyage up Salt River, notwithstanding the water is very low; it was thought some weeks ago that they would be accompanied by Capt. R. C. Gray, but fortunately he succeeded in arranging matters in such a way that he has now no business in that direction. It is possible that some other gentlemen may join Capts. Walton and Neeld in this excursion. It is hoped that they will have a pleasant trip and a safe return.

—The Beauregard upon whose wreck the Boyd was injured, belongs to the Montgomery fleet, and was sunk in action with the National fleet on the 6th of June 1862. She had formerly done service in the towboat trade between New Orleans and the Gulf, and bore the name of the "Ocean." She was built at Cincinnati expressly for towing, and had two powerful engines and five boilers, and she was always regarded a first class vessel and an excellent sea boat.

—We stated yesterday morning that the Mary Boyd was insured in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh offices for $15,000. Only $5,000 of the risk were in the Cincinnati offices—$2,500 in the western offices, and the other to us is as yet unknown. The $10,000 in Pittsburgh were divided equally in four offices, the Allegheny, Peoples, Boatmen's and either the Eureka or Pittsburgh.—Cin. Gas.

—On Saturday Capt. H. U. Bart purchased of Capt. Jas Ransom, the machinery of the Guidon for $1,200 cash. He had previously traded the same to Capt. Ransom for an interest in the John H. Groesbeck. He will now sell the machinery to anybody that wants it, but asks an advance on the price paid.

—St. Louis has discovered a method by which she will head off New Orleans in the Galveston trade, by evading the quarantine law at the latter place. She intends to send out a boat for Galveston direct. The quarantine only applies to boats coming from New Orleans.

—The R. C. Gray left Portland last Saturday with over a $6,000 trip of Arkansas freight. In backing out from the Portland wharf she grounded, and, after twelve hours' detention, was pulled off by the New Albany ferry-boat.

—Captain Wiley, of St. Louis, has purchased the little steamer Hesper, which the Memphis Avalanche has made famous. She was never very fortunate. She will probably load at St. Louis for Red or White river.

—We learn that the owners of the Dexter have sent to New Orleans $2,000, to secure for that boat the opportunity of being a contestant in the forthcoming race. It will be the Lee, Natchez and Dexter.

—The Kate Putnam put off about 40 head of stock at Memphis, and took on 40 head of Middle Tennessee mules to fill up the space at $5,00 per head for New Orleans.

—The Era No. 9, after three days detention at New Orleans, released by the U. S. Marshal, and left Friday on her way rejoicing for Red river.

—The Nick Longworth and Freindship are on the St. Louis ways and the St. Luke and Henry Ames are waiting their turns.

—The barge sunk by the J. S. Neal, at Elk Shoals, Kanawha river, last Wednesday, contained 1,964 bbls salt.

—The wharfage collections at Memphis during the month of September amounted to $3,755 60.

—Sam Barr, Jr., will second M. M. Deem in the office of the C. B. Church.

—The Belle Vernon is loading at Portland for N O.

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors as, in every respect, an undoubted security.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 8 per cent. currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties at present prices only return 5 per cent., and we regard the security equally safe.

THE DAILY GAZETTE.

HOME NEWS.

Allegheny Councils will hold a regular meeting this evening at half past seven o'clock.

Alderman Bolster yesterday committed Jno. Strobel to the work house for ninety days for disorderly conduct.

Since City Hall was placed in good condition for amusement purposes it has proven a source of great revenue to the city.

Priscilla Steeman made information before Alderman Taylor yesterday against Patrick Hays, for seduction under promise of marriage. Warrant issued.

Personal.—Mayor Brush is absent from the city on a business trip to Philadelphia. Deputy Mayor Nichols is attending to the business of the office during his absence.

Admitted.—In the U. S. Court, yesterday morning, on motion of James Veech, Esq., Guy E. Farquehar, Esq., of Pottsville, Schuylkill county, Pa., was admitted to practice and duly sworn.

Alleged Larceny.—William Bratz made information at the Mayor's office yesterday charging Peter Hoffman with the larceny of a pair of pants, a coat and fifteen dollars in cash. A warrant was issued.

The work on the new Fifth avenue Market House goes on very slowly, and we are quite sure that the good people residing in the outer wards will be disappointed as to the time of its completion. The contractors should be stirred up with a sharp stick.

Wm. Smith and Henry Hohnemeyer engaged in a row in a saloon on Chestnut street, Allegheny, Tuesday night, which resulted in an information for disorderly conduct being preferred before Alderman Bolster yesterday, he of the unpronounceable name being prosecutor. The usual papers were issued.

Pocket Picked.—A lady from Johnstown came to the city yesterday morning, and while on the train or in passing through the Union Depot, her pocket was picked of a pocket book containing a considerable sum of money. The pocket book was subsequently found near the Union Depot but the money had been abstracted.

A chap made a wager on the election, in which he pledged to climb the telegraph pole at Pittock's corner at noon on Sunday, and to sit at the top for three hours, with a flag in his hand and a placard on his back with the words, "A fool in politics" printed thereon. The forfeit is $250, which we suppose will be saved by the fulfillment of the contract.

Serious Runaway.—Tuesday evening, as Mr. Jesse Sutton was driving along River avenue, Allegheny, in the Eighth ward, his horses, attached to a heavy wagon, became frightened at a bon fire, and ran away. Mr. Sutton was thrown from the vehicle, to the road, and fell in front of the wheels, two of which passed over his left arm, breaking it in two places.

To-day the sale of seats for single nights of the Opera season takes place at Charlotte Blume's music store, Fifth avenue. There are many choice seats remaining unsold, and doubtless there will be a rush for them. The success the company is meeting with in Chicago, where they are engaged this week, is wonderful. The season here promises to be brilliant.

Chartiers Railway.—The work on the Chartiers Valley Railway is progressing slowly but surely. The road is graded and ballasted to Canonsburg and the track has been laid to Woodville, and is being put down at the rate of one-fourth of a mile every day, and will probably extend to Canonsburg by the middle of November. The citizens of Washington, and in fact all along the road, are becoming impatient with the delay.

A Misunderstanding.—Miss Kitty Crew and Henry Goldstein have had a misunderstanding in regard to $180. Miss Crew claims that she gave to Goldstein that amount to purchase for her a gold watch and chain, but that he never bought the watch or returned the money. The case was heard before Alderman McMaster's yesterday, when the magistrate held Goldstein to bail in the sum of $2,000 for trial at Court on a charge of larceny by bailee.

The simple increase in the business of the Singer Sewing Machine Company last year was equal to the entire sales of the Weed Company, more than twice the entire sales of the Empire or American Machines, and nearly twice the entire sales of the Florence. Considering that the Singer Company makes less effort to sell their Machines than any other Company, does not this show that the Singer Machine is the superior? Call at No. 20 Sixth street and see the recent improvements on this wonderful machine.

A Grand Concert was held in the Methodist Episcopal church at Mansfield on Tuesday evening last, given by the choir of the church, assisted by the Pittsburgh Quartette Club, and under the dictatorship of Mr. George M. Alexander. The attendance was very large and the entertainment afforded was very superior throughout. Not a performer but what elicited the heartiest ecomiums from the audience. The programme comprised choice gems of classical and modern music, and the rendition of the several quintettes, quartettes, trios, duets and solos was in all cases fine and brilliant in many. The piano used on the occasion was from the music store of Hoffman & Hale, 69 Fifth avenue, and was of the celebrated Marshall & Mittauer manufacture. The concert will amply bear early repetition.

The thanks of all Republicans are due to the officers of the Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company for their accurate and full accounts received Tuesday night of the elections. They stretched their lines into the rooms of the Executive Committee, where prompt advices were received and read to the dense crowd on the street in front.

The operator in charge was Mr. W. A. Marshall, who proved himself an efficient hand at the instrument.

Thanks are due to Mr. T. L. Clinton, the worthy Superintendent of the Pittsburgh office, for his labors in furnishing this means of obtaining news from all quarters. The Western Union Company also were on hand as usual, and worked hard and successfully to satisfy the great clamor for news of the day's elections.

We also return our thanks to them for their attentions and services—especially to our courteous friend Superintendent Gilson and Mr. David Loyd who worked vigorously.

Daring Robbery.

Between eleven and twelve o'clock Tuesday night Mr. James Pearson, operator in Rogers' Photograph Rooms, was attacked on the Hand street bridge by two ruffians, knocked down and robbed of all the money and valuables about his person. When about half way across the bridge the villains attacked him and one of them struck him a blow on the head, knocking him insensible, and after going through him left him. He lay for some time but finally recovered sufficiently to reach his home on Caldwell street. Several transactions of this character have occurred of late on that bridge, and lest they become more frequent, we would suggest the propriety of the company employing one or two watchmen to protect persons who cross the bridge at night. If something is not done the travel will find a safer route.

The Cantata Concert To-Night.

The second concert of the Cantata Society will take place to-night at the new and beautiful Concert Hall attached to the Mercantile Library building on Penn street. The programme has been arranged with a view of developing the wealth of talent and art comprised in this home association of amateur vocalists, and present gems of exquisite beauty, selected from the old masters and the most popular of modern composers. A rare musical treat can safely be anticipated by all who attend, and besides, those who have not yet visited the elegant new hall will be afforded the delight of enjoying a concert in one of the finest and best appointed temples devoted to amusement west of the mountains. There will be no seats held in reserve, but there is little choice in the selection of parts in the hall, for all are equally good. Let no lover of music fail to put in an appearance to-night.

The Aged Women's Home.

We will remind our readers that the Bazaar is still in vogue, and is to continue throughout the present week. We are glad to see that the stock of fancy and other goods, so large and varied in the beginning, is now much reduced, although considerable remains. We had, yesterday, renewed evidence that the dinners continue to improve in quality, if improvement is possible, and that they are more and more appreciated by increased numbers every day. The noonday and evening meals will be served as usual every day this week, and we would especially ask all to bear in mind that on Friday evening there will be exhibited a variety of chaste and classic tableaux, not previously produced. Comfortable seats will be provided for a large audience. We hope to see every seat and all the standing room occupied. Let no one, unless unavoidably prevented, miss this opportunity to spend a happy and joyous hour, fill the treasury of the Association and make glad the devoted women, who have with so much diligent and uncomplaining toil labored in the good cause.

Petition in Bankruptcy.

In the United States District Court yesterday morning, Judge McCandless on the bench, Josiah Cohen, Esq., presented the petition of C. Yeager & Co., merchants of this city, asking that Messrs. Kennedy, Campbell & Co., of New Castle, Pa., be declared bankrupts. The petitioning creditors allege that Messrs. Kennedy, Campbell & Co., are indebted to them in the sum of $[illegible], which amount remains unpaid. It is further alleged that the said firm, in contemplation of bankruptcy and insolvency, gave warrants to confess judgment in favor of John Knox and T. J. Alford, and others of New Castle, with a view of giving them preference over other creditors, and that they have permitted their property to be seized under the executions issued on the judgments, and further that they have committed other acts of bankruptcy. A rule to show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted was allowed and made returnable on the 19th inst. An injunction was also granted out of the Circuit Court restraining the execution or the creditors from making sale of the property seized.

BOY SHOT.

Trifling With Firearms—Another Victim—On the Verge of Death.

It is a repetition of the old story. Playing—or, to use a stronger Saxon—fooling with a gun, and a life almost destroyed. The transaction occurred at Braddock's Field, Monday. A Mr. McGlaughlin, assisted by John Baughman, was "moving." Among the goods being unpacked was a shot gun, which attracted Baughman's attention. He inquired if it would shoot, and was answered in the affirmative. Taking it up with the hammer drawn back he pointed it at a son of Daniel McCain, a lad aged about ten years, who was standing near by. The hammer fell, and eight shot were lodged in the boy's body. One entered near the heart and two in the bowels—the balance being distributed in the arms and legs of the victim. The boy fell to the ground and was immediately picked up and taken home, where medical attention was secured. He was living at last accounts, but in a very precarious condition.

EDUCATIONAL.

Meeting of the Central Board of Education—Reports of Committees, &c.

A meeting of the Central Board of Education was held in the rooms of the Board, Lloyd & Black's building, Fourth avenue, at ten o'clock yesterday, Wednesday, October 12, 1870.

Members Present—Messrs. Craig, Cuddy, Fleming, Getty, Hamilton, Hartman, Mays, Neckermann, Nobbs, Sims, Taylor and President Wilson.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

A communication from Jones, Jeremy & Pearson, asking for a reduction on school tax on property in the Thirteenth ward, was read by the Secretary.

Mr. Hartman moved that a committee of two be appointed to investigate the matter, in connection with the Secretary, and report at the next meeting.

The motion was adopted, and the Chair appointed Messrs. Hartman and Nobbs.

Several other applications for exonorations were presented and referred to the above committee.

The report of the City Superintendent for the month of September, which we published last week, was presented and read by the Secretary. Report received and filed.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

Appended to the above report in addition to what we have previously published was the following relative to Evening Schools.

Number of Evening Schools open	10
" Teachers employed	32
" Male pupils enrolled	1,056
" Female " "	234
Total number enrolled	1,290
Average attendance of Males	759
" " Females	164
Total average attendance	923

The efficiency of the colored school has been greatly increased since my previous visit; the discipline is excellent and the increased interest on the part of the pupils is very marked indeed.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The annual report of the City Superintendent was presented and referred to the Committee on Printing with instructions to have five thousand copies printed.

EXPENDITURES.

Mr. John A. Sergeant, Secretary of the Board, presented the following:

GENTLEMEN: I would most respectfully report that since your meeting of September 10th that warrants to the amount of twenty-six thousand two hundred and fifty-eight dollars and seventy-four cents ($26,258 74) have been drawn on the Treasury for salaries and other expenses, including ten thousand eight hundred and ninety-five dollars and twelve cents ($10,895 12) for the High School building. The report was received and filed.

The report of the Principal of the High School was presented, and referred to the Committees on Music and High School.

Mr. Hartman called attention to the fact that a certain publishing firm was smuggling certain books into the schools which had not been adopted or recommended by this Board, and it should not be encouraged.

Mr. Hamilton moved that the matter be referred to the Committee on Text Books.

Mr. Craig moved to amend by referring the matter to the City Superintendent.

The motion as amended was then adopted.

TEACHERS AND SALARIES.

Mr. Nobbs presented the following report:

Your Committee on Teachers and Salaries would respectfully report having granted additional teachers to the following districts:

Highland, one Grammar teacher; Liberty, Howard, Lincoln, Forbes and Springfield, one primary each.

We would recommend the adoption of the following:

Resolved, That in case of additional teachers being granted to sub-districts, after the annual allotment, said teachers shall only continue while the required number of pupils are in attendance.

Your committee have had application from but three sub-districts for the appointment of a teacher of German, and there not being enough pupils in said districts to justify the appointment of a teacher under the resolution adopted by the Board August 9th, we have therefore deferred action until a sufficient number apply to justify the employment of a teacher.

The report was received and the resolution adopted.

Mr. Craig called attention to the fact that one of the music teachers employed had not commenced his duties until after the first week of the session had expired, and the Secretary had not allowed him for that time, but as the music teacher would be expected to do a great deal of extra work during the year without compensation, he moved that the full month's salary be allowed him. The motion was adopted.

Mr. Taylor offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That in case any teacher in consequence of necessary changes in our schools be changed to a lower department for any other cause than incompetency the time taught in the higher department by any teacher shall be counted as experience in the department to which the teacher may be changed.

The resolution was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Nobbs the exhonerations asked for in the O'Hara district were allowed.

On motion of Mr. Nobbs the matter of exonerations in the Twentieth ward were referred to the City Treasurer.

The Secretary read sundry bills which were ordered to be paid when endorsed by the proper committees.

The President announced Messrs. Neckermann, Mitchell, Cuddy and Young as the visiting committee for the ensuing month.

On motion adjourned.

THE PUGILISTIC TRIO.

Fight at the Lockup—Three Notorious Females in a Fight—Hair Pulling Extraordinary.

"The dogs of war" metaphorically speaking were let loose in the lockup this morning about one o'clock. They were females Melinda Lucas and May Johnson, colored, and Cal Black, white, constituted the trio. All three had been arrested during the evening previous, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct on the street. They occupied one cell, and passed the time agreeably together until about an hour after midnight, when Melinda and May got into a dispute, during which Melinday by scientific pugilism floored her antagonist and considerably increased the width of her nose, in fact about leveled May's proboscis with her face. The white prisoner, Cal., now interfered, and championed the defeated female's cause. It was then a war of the races, and a severe one at that. Screeching and howling like twin jackals after night, the twain met, and fought. Cal. was thrown upon the bench with which the cell is ornamented, and felt her opponent's fingers seriously interfering with her respiration, by their determined closing in on her windpipe. She immediately reached forth and seized the raven tresses of Melinda; Melinda loosed her hold and encircled one of Cal.'s fingers between her ivorys. The one pulled and the other bit, and they both howled and blasphemed furiously, in chorus, while the disengaged hand of either was doubled up and served as a mallet to pound each other's face. The Captain attempted to quell the disturbance, but failed until he had entered the cell and aided by two other attendants succeeded in separating the combatants. This was a task of no ordinary difficulty, and when accomplished Cal had to be carried out of the cell—shrieking, cursing and struggling as she was borne away. Her antagonist was put a while behind her in vituperation, and the narrow corridors rang with their revolting utterances. Cal was provided with a cell by herself, but continued to rave like a caged lioness, in all of which she was energetically imitated by Melinda. In summing up results it was found that Melinda had lost a number of her raven locks and carried an eye somewhat blacker than its original color: Cal had her finger almost bitten off and her eye also damaged, while the clothing of each was much the worse for the meeting. Had they not been separated the contest would undoubtedly have ended in murder. They fought as vindictively as friends. The spectacle was revolting beyond description, and as illustrative of how low humanity can sink was almost inconceivable.

PROPOSED GYMNASIUM.

Preliminary Meeting—Committees Appointed—A Plan Suggested.

Pittsburgh should have a good gymnasium. No public institution affords a better source of entertainment, combined with physical culture, for young men, and there is really no reason why it should not be, if properly conducted, a very popular resort in the city. We are pleased to note that efforts are now being made with a view to organize such an institution upon a firm basis and in a proper manner.

Last evening a preliminary meeting of some of those interested in the project was held at No. 59 Fourth avenue. Mr. A. J. Parsons presided, with Mr. F. A. Gillespie as Secretary.

The matter was discussed freely and at considerable length, when the initiatory steps were taken toward a permanent organization by the appointment of Messrs. John McKain, Geo. B. Hill, Paul McCandless, F. A. Gillespie and A. J. Parsons as a Committee to prepare a Constitution.

Messrs. John D. Biggert and Geo. A. Cook were appointed a Committee to procure a hall for the Association.

It was decided to organize the Association upon the stock plan, with a capital stock of $500, to be divided into fifty shares of $10 each.

The meeting then adjourned until Saturday evening, October 22, 1870, when the committee will report. To this second meeting all who favor the project are invited.

We hope there will be a large attendance and that the enterprise will be successful. It is eminently worthy and should be supported by our young men.

The Five Million Fund.

Our Presbyterian readers, and probably many not connected with that church, have read and heard much of a scheme inaugurated in this city last year, when the Old School and the New School Assemblies melted into one, to raise a memorial or thanksgiving fund of five million dollars for purposes not having to do with immediate and every day church operations. Among these, as we should expect from the past history of the Church, education figures largely. In our own vicinity the objects of this class particularly recommended are the Theological Seminary, the Pennsylvania Female College, the United College at Washington and the Western University. The meeting at the Third Presbyterian church (Rev. Mr. Noble's) this evening is for this general object. It may be worth while to explain how the Western University appears in the list. This institution, as our readers all know, while eminently an institution for Christian learning, belongs, and can belong to no one denomination. It is proposed, however, by some of its Presbyterian friends, in accordance with a usage with which all who are acquainted with college management are familiar, to raise an endowment for one of its chairs, or scholarship funds for needy students, these to be controlled by the Presbytery or Synod, in order that they shall always be secure to the cause of good sound learning. Many men of liberal spirit in the Presbyterian Church claim that they desire for an institution of learning nothing more in the way of denominationalism, than simply this.

As all the objects above specified, and the general object which includes them are so noble in their scope, we trust that the meeting will be an enthusiastic one, and that Western Pennsylvania will have no reason to hang her head when the grand results are announced next May.

The Eclipse Coal Hod will outwear any in the market.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Meeting at School Room No. 5 Scott Township.

The Scott Township Teachers' Association met, according to previous adjournment, at School Room No. 5, (Woodville,) Miss Lizzie D. Snodgrass, teacher.

The exercises of the forenoon consisted of the regular school recitations, and were conducted in an excellent manner, doing credit alike to pupils and teacher. The order was excellent, of such a character that no one could take exception to it. At the close of these exercises remarks were made by different members of the Board of Education, teachers from adjoining townships and visitors interested in the advancement of our common school system. Prominent among the topics discussed were, first, System of cramming and overloading the minds of the children with an unlimited number of studies. The second question discussed was the mistake made by many parents with reference to private schools. I heartily concur with the remark made that private schools in many instances are most ruinous to our common school system.

First, by taking from among the masses of children who attend our common schools, those brighter intellects which should be examples for those less brilliant, thus damaging the progress of the school and robbing the public school teacher of that credit which is due to him alone, and conferring the honor on the teachers of our private schools, whose only work has been the developing of the ideas inculcated by the public school teacher, and whose labor is as nothing in comparison with those of the former. There have been objections raised to the system of common schools, by those who by wealth or birth feel something of an aristocratic notion that their children will be contaminated by coming in contact with those of the lower classes, and will imbibe the notions of the ignoble throng. This opinion is unreasonable and founded on arrogance and pride. If children have inculcated into their mental constitutions the idea that they are better than those around them, and that the mark of distinction consists in rank and birth, they may in maturer years, be convinced that they have missed their calculations; and that the luckless boy whom they were taught to despise is a true, noble man, while they are base, ignoble slaves.

The discussion of these topics closed the exercises for the forenoon. A motion to adjourn for one hour was made and carried. Institute then adjourned to meet at one o'clock P. M.

During the hour of adjournment the audience regaled themselves on the bountiful supply of rich and delicate provisions, furnished by the unsparing hands of kind and indulgent patrons. The hour passed pleasantly and, as pleasant hours usually do, rapidly by.

At 1 o'clock, the meeting was again called to order by the President, Prof. D. M. McKee. First in order was an essay by Miss L. K. McMillen, subject—"The Teacher's Profession." The composition was good and the performance well rendered; and we are only sorry that some of those teachers who bring disfavor and disgrace on their profession, and some of those persons outside of the profession who speak disparagingly of it, were not there to hear it. This was followed by a select reading by Miss L. D. Snodgrass. The selection read was, "Dissolve the Union." This popular selection was read in an interesting and entertaining manner. The next performance, worthy of note, was a lecture by Miss Neely, on the subject of "Mathematical Geography." The production was truly excellent and gave good evidence that the lady had given the subject a thorough investigation. This was followed by an essay from the pen of Miss Ella Hawes, subject—"The Reformer and his Mission." This lady is an excellent writer, and some of her productions are of the highest order, among which the present production held the first rank. The popularity of the subject rendered it interesting, and considerable effort was made to have the essay published, which the lady declined to have done.

Let those who seek reform first reform themselves, reform the church, and pave the way for their own salvation, and not commence reform where it is not needed—not to attempt a reformation that will result in desolation. Let them beware how they attempt to undermine that great political party whose platform has ever been founded on the protection of right, lest happly thee be formed to fight against the best interests of their children, the weal of the Republic and ordinance of God.

This performance closed the programme for the day. After the transaction of miscellaneous business together with the adoption of a programme for the next meeting of the Association, the Institute adjourned to meet in the Grammar Department of the Mansfield Public School, on Saturday, October 15th, at which time a large audience and interesting exercises are anticipated. Let every friend of education turn out. M'C.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—"East Lynne, or the Elopement," was reproduced at the Opera House last evening to a large and select audience. It will be repeated this evening.

ACADEMY.—Little Zoe, the child wonder, is beyond all question the most daring trapeze performer of her age that has ever appeared before an American audience. The Academy of Music, where she is now filling an engagement, is nightly crowded to see her leap from the gallery to the stage. There are numerous other attractions at the Academy, as will be seen by reference to our amusement columns.

VARIETIES.—The attractions at the Varieties theatre are not only numerous, but novel. The most astounding feat now performed there for the amusement of the patrons of this establishment is the "Dead Shot," who shoots an apple off a young lady's head with a pistol loaded with ball cartridge. Maffett and Bartholomew's pantomime troupe do the "funny business" during the present week.

ENGLISH OPERA.—The sale of season tickets for the grand English Opera which commences at the Academy on Monday, has been unprecedentedly large. The sale of single seats begin to-day and will continue until Saturday evening at Blume's music store.

Pearl Mill Real Estate.—The lot 119 feet on Lacock street, by 137 feet to old canal, upon which the Pearl Mill stood, and the lot corner Rebecca and School streets, 54 by 129 feet, upon which the Pearl Mill stables and wagon sheds now stand, will be sold on Saturday, the 15th inst., at 3 o'clock. The Hog.

A writer in the Chicago Post grows eloquent in the praise of the hog. We quote:

The hog has been in disrepute for a long time, at least ever since he began to play his part in the ancient religions. It is fashionable to ridicule and denounce him, to call him a filthy brute, and to insist that he is the dire author of leprosy, consumption, cancer scrofula, and the most disgusting diseases that afflict humanity. This is the teaching of predjudice, not of science.

The hog outlives all hostility, and laughs, so to speak, at the success of his slanderers. Still is the reeking roast pig the sacrifice of many a dinner table, and still is the rural ceiling festooned with the savory sausage and the smoke house fragrant with ham. We deal with facts, not sentiment. The hog is a true cosmopolite—a citizen of the world. He increases and multiplies and inherits every part of the inhabitable globe. He is as ubiquitous as the bat. He does not stand in high repute for his manners, but he is most accommodating, thriving with equal content in the sty of the rich and the kitchen of the indigent. He wallows sometimes, but naturalists tell me that he does this for the sake of cleanliness, which is next to Godliness—for the same reason that the Pacific Islanders grease themselves. Among his quaint peculiarities are his grunt of satisfaction and his squeal of remonstrance and reproach. He should never be fed till he stops his squealing; it is the approved method of breaking him of the habit.

Homer, in his Odyssey, honored the swinekeeper with the confidence of Ulysses—and why not? The hog, called stupid, is really one of the most enterprising and sagacious of animals. The gamekeeper of Sir Henry Mildmay actually broke a black sow to hunt game in the woods; and she ran in the hunt with wonderful success. She would track game, back and stand, and point partriges, pheasants, snipes and rabbits, as skillfuly as a bred pointer. She would bound in response to a whistle, and would wag her head and squeal with delight on being shown a gun.

The Babylonian Talmud says: "Cursed be he that breedeth hogs;" and the history of the Maccabees tells us that the scribe Eleazar walked straight to the tortures of persecution rather than eat a slice of spare rib, heroically preferring the martyr's stake to the pork steak. This animal has been under the ban of many religions. The Mohammedans learned from the Jews, as the Jews had previously learned from the Egyptians, to hate him because he perversely declined to "chew the cud;" but he still manages to masticate and digest considerable pottage in the course of a year.

The hog is the product of nature's most economical thought. There is no part that cannot be utilized. His flesh, fat, bristles, hair, hoofs and bones are all turned to account. "The divisions of his unctious body, says Apicius, "are as familiar as the divisions of the earth. His ears and feet go to souse; his brains are a choice dish for the epicure. His tail has for ages been claimed by successive generations of children as their peculiar property. Tradition points out how to appropriate it; roast on the coals, take in the fingers and eat without salt."

The hog is the staff of life—the arch enemy of famine—the poor man's best friend. Moreover, in his earlier days, he is strikingly playful, frisky, cunning and graceful—as much more interesting than a human infant of the same age as the latter is more interesting than so much putty. In adult pighood he is omniverous and self-reliant, bold and expeditionary, and he breeds faster, grows faster and keeps cheaper than any other domestic animal.

America is pre-eminently the home of the hog—he is a logical deduction from Indian corn. He was introduced to Virginia in 1609, and here he multiplied so rapidly that the colonists were compelled to palisade Jamestown—high to keep out the Indians, close to keep out the hogs. Mrs. Hog can produce ten to twenty at a birth, as often as twice a year. The descendants of a single pair, allowing six young to a litter, would amount to six millions in fifty years. The gratitude of the country is due to Cincinnati for that, by assiduous harvesting, she keeps down the inundation which constantly threatens to overwhelm us in an uncommon ruin.

Old Style Landscape Gardening.

Elvaston Castle, the residence of the Earl of Harrington, is the most wonderful place in England, and probably in the world, for its topiary work as well as collection of evergreens. Here are picea pinsepos 30 feet high, abies menseziii and douglasi 35 feet high, hemlocks much finer than those in America. The grand entrance through the golden gates opened only on state occasions, is bordered on one side by a variegated holly-hedge, with occasional standards of Irish yew, and on the other side (being divided by great masses of golden yew in a setting of common yew) is a line of golden and Irish yews, backed by a row of pinus nobilis; at the end of each grass avenue is a superb golden yew 29 feet high and as broad; from this you pass into three distinct and separate gardens, each more extraordinary than the other in size and the figure of the topiary work. Entire cottages cut out of yew, yew arbors 20 feet high, having a base 30 feet square, with a succession of steps; the top surmounted by two peacocks, six feet long and three or more feet high, the head and figures closely cut, while the tails, in golden yew, are allowed to remain unclipped and feathery. One very extraordinary house in yew, with several gables, is surmounted by two birds, one in a nest, the other attempting to fly out, each larger than the largest eagle. There are also perfectly green cones of English yew, 40 feet high, with golden heads (caps of golden yew,) these standing in a double base or platform of English yew, 25 to 30 feet square, and 12 to 15 inches high, perfectly smooth and flat, as if made of slate; there are also long alleys of smooth turf bordered by alternate Irish and golden yews, the latter tied close in by wires to keep them pyramidal and surmounted by golden crowns; other avenues of Irish junipers and golden cypress. In one of the gardens (each divided from the other by clipped yew-hedges 20 feet high, with occasional arches) are group of Chinese barrels cut out of juniper. In this garden a fine effect is produced by a large circle, 100 feet in diameter, made of large triangles of alternating golden and green yews, dovetailing into each other, and kept down (6 inches high) so as to produce a brilliant parterre. One of the most effective things, however, is the Vandyck Walk, a covered, irregular walk through an arbor thickened at the bottom by box and close over the head, the light being admitted by occasional loop holes.

Napoleon's Alleged Fortune.

The London Times makes the following very noteworthy statement respecting the "large fortune" which the Emperor Napoleon is supposed to have accumulated during his reign.

"Unless we are misinformed, the Emperor Napoleon, who has been the chief of the French State for nearly twenty-two years, and its almost absolue master for nearly eighteen, retains no private property but a small cottage which came to him from his mother. Call it rashness, call it overweening confidence, or call it a generous recklessness, it is proved by the event that he did not devote his reign to the accumulation of money. Whatever he has received from France he has spent in the country, in accordance with the social system wh'ch was established with the empire. That system was, no doubt, extravagant in the extreme. No contemporary sovereign has held such a court. Czar, who owns vast domains as his own private property, besides ignoring the limitations of a civil list in dealing with the public treasury, could not maintain such splendor. The Sultan may squander his millions, but his oriental magnificence has been mere shabbiness by the side of Paris. What our own court is we all use, and, as we know its cost, we may, when we compare it with that of the French Emperor, form some judgment of his expenses. Napoleon III. will leave his German place of captivity at the end of the war almost as poor a man as he was when he entered France in 1848. The Empress has, indeed, her jewels, gifts at her marriage and on her fete days; but these are her private property, the state jewels being now in the hands of the French Government at Tours. She has besides, an hereditary property in Spain, and then Prince Imperial has a house which has been bequeathed to him, near Trieste. This, we believe, is all that remains to the family which lately were supreme in France."

CHAS. M. CHADWICK, who has been employed in Leavenworth for about a year past in the ticket office of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, died in the calaboose last week, from the effects of beating his head against the bars of his cell, while under the influence of delirium tremens. Mr. Chadwick formerly lived in Chicago, where he became well known as the proprietor and manager of the Varieties Theater, and also "Chadwick's Exchange." When residing there he had a wife and four children, from whom he separated, and came here with a woman, formerly an attache of his theater. The wife afterward came here, and after remaining some time returned to Chicago about two months since. The man had been suffering for two or three days with delirium, and on Thursday night was arrested at the Continental Hotel, and placed in the calaboose with the result above mentioned. His body was sent to Ohio to his mother yesterday.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

VICTORY! VICTORY!

Official Returns!

An official telegram, just received from New York, gives the following:

During the year ending June 30, 1870, the Singer Sewing Machine Company sold over the Wheeler & Wilson and Elliptic

Companies	7,915	Machines.
Over the two Howe Co's	41,781	Do.
Over the Grover & Baker Co's	51,593	Do.
Over the Weed Company	67,094	Do.
Over the Florence Company	73,120	Do.

And so far ahead of the other Machines that it is not necessary to give their figures.

Such an overwhelming victory for the Singer can only be accounted for by the fact that it is as far ahead of its competitors in point of merits, as the figures show it is in point of sale.

Call and examine at STRAW & MORTON'S, No. 20 Sixth street, late St. Clair. oc13
